

MAN DISAPPEARS, FOUL PLAY FEARED

H. S. Ralph, College Park Resident, Last Seen on Wednesday.

Foul play is suspected in the mysterious disappearance of H. S. Ralph, 48, College Park, police said yesterday. Ralph was last seen Wednesday near Pryor street and Ridge avenue, and is said to have been carrying a large sum of money.

He is described as being 5 feet 11 inches in height and weighing 215 pounds.

Atlanta police were requested to investigate the disappearance of Woodrow Anthony, of Royston. Relatives told officers that Anthony telephoned his wife to come to a local hotel for him Wednesday. When Mrs. Anthony arrived at the hotel she could find no trace of her husband. Police were told, S. W. Ivey, 15, of 990 Fair street, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Ivey, also was reported missing, relatives telling police he had not been seen since Monday.

DAYTON TO PAY HONORS TO WILLIAM J. BRYAN

DAYTON, Tenn., July 25.—(AP)—At the spot where William Jennings Bryan "fought for the Bible," Dayton will pay tribute tomorrow to the "Great Commoner" on the tenth anniversary of his death here. Bryan died at the home of Mayor Richard Rogers a few days after the famous "monkey trial" of John Thomas Scopes. He acted as special prosecutor. Clarence Darrow was among counsel for Scopes, charged with teaching evolution in a public school.

MRS. GEORGE RIPLEY NAMED BOND LEADER

Mayor Selects Federation President as Co-Chairman With Jones Ewing.

Mrs. George Ripley, president of the Atlanta Federation of Women's Clubs, yesterday was named by Mayor Key as co-chairman of the campaign to obtain ratification of the $1,775,000 bond issue on September 18 for sewer and school improvements.

The mayor previously had selected Mrs. B. Murdoch Walker, former president of the organization and at present chairman of the advisory committee, as head of the women's bureau, but Mrs. Walker asked that the mayor name Mrs. Ripley and promised wholehearted co-operation with Mrs. Ripley in the organization.

Key acceded readily to Mrs. Walker's request and officially asked Mrs. Ripley to undertake the job along with Jones H. Ewing, head of the men's organization. The selection was the last official act of the mayor before leaving for Jacksonville, from where he will sail today for a 10-day vacation trip to New York and Boston.

Mrs. Walker and Mrs. Ripley have worked together in club work for several years. Mrs. Ripley served as treasurer of the Federation of Women's Clubs three years ago, when Mrs. Walker was president. She also has been a major in charge of women's division of the annual Community Chest campaigns and is prominent in social and civic circles.

Ratification of the bond issue will insure the expenditure of approximately $8,000,000 here in improvements for sewer and school improvements and will provide funds for an adequate sewer system for metropolitan Atlanta, thus eliminating the hazard of health of citizens which now exists.

BROTHERS PARDONED ON KIDNAP SENTENCES

Governor Talmadge yesterday granted full pardons to C. L. and W. B. Davis, brothers of Americus, Ga., who were serving four to six-year chain-gang sentences as a result of their conviction on kidnapping charges two years ago.

C. L. Davis, however, was placed on probation with reference to another charge against him of possessing a pistol, for which he had been sentenced to 12 months.

The pardons were recommended some time ago after a hearing at which C. L. Davis, brought here by the warden of the Meriwether county chain gang, presented a plea for himself and his brother.

ATLANTA'S MOTHER PASSES IN CAROLINA

Mrs. Nathaniel Baxter Sr.
Was Mother of Mrs. Robert F. Maddox Sr.

Mrs. Nathaniel Baxter Jr., mother of Mrs. Robert F. Maddox Sr. and widow of the late Nathaniel Baxter Jr., noted southern industrialist and financier, died early yesterday morning at an Asheville (N.C.) hotel. She was 81 years old.

Mrs. Baxter was prominent in church, civic and social circles throughout the south and her home in Nashville, Tenn., was a gathering place for church and business leaders of the nation.

Her civic work and charities were widespread and she had a rare capacity for making friends. Since her husband's death in 1913 she had traveled extensively and had established widespread friendships. She was a charter member and ex-regent of the Cumberland chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution and was a member of the Braddock Circle, one of the first women's clubs to be founded in the south.

She was an active member of the Vanderbilt Aid Society, which was organized many years ago in her own home. She also belonged to the Centennial Club and the Ladies' Hermitage Association. She had been a member of the Methodist church for more than 70 years and had been a leader in missionary society work.

Born in Paducah county, Mississippi, daughter of the late Fletcher Lavender and Sarah Horton Lavender, her mother died while she was an infant and she was reared by her mother's sister, Mrs. James B. Sharpe, of Memphis, and Mr. Sharpe.

She was married to Mr. Baxter in the old First Methodist church, of Memphis, and went immediately to Nashville to reside. Since the death of her husband she has made her home with her daughters, Mrs. Robert F. Maddox, of Atlanta, and Mrs. R. F. Jackson, of Nashville. Both daughters were with her at the time of her passing.

Other survivors are her half-sister, Miss Nannie Lavender, and her half-brother, Baxter Lavender, of St. Louis, Mo., and the following grandchildren: Mrs. M. E. Holderness, of St. Louis, Mo.; Robert F. Maddox Jr., of Nashville; Robert F. Maddox Jr., of Nashville; and Miss Laura Maddox, of Atlanta, and the following great-grandchildren: Miss Eunice Holderness and Mr. E. Holderness Jr., of St. Louis; Emmie Jackson, Milby Jackson, Mannie Jackson and Robert F. Jackson III and Cecil Maddox, of Atlanta.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow at the residence of Mrs. Jackson in Nashville.

$92,511 FUND SOUGHT FOR BUSINESS CENSUS

Erie Cooke, state director for the National Emergency Council for Georgia, said yesterday the advisory committee on allotments had recommended to President Roosevelt the allocation of $92,511 for a census of Georgia business enterprises.

The money is to be spent in Georgia, and the proposed census is to relate to the calendar year 1935. The committee recommended that preparatory work begin immediately, the actual canvass to begin January 1, 1936. The census is to cover all business activities except agriculture and manufacturing.

The committee said the census would furnish to the government, business and labor important information not now collected in complete form.

$816,753 GAS TAX GAIN REPORTED FOR GEORGIA

A gain of $816,753 in gasoline and kerosene tax collections during the first seven months this year, as compared with a similar period last year, was announced yesterday by State Comptroller General W. B. Harrison. The 6 cents gasoline tax returned $8,715,993 and the 1-cent kerosene tax returned $124,526 during the first seven months this year, in comparison with revenue of $7,904,588 for gasoline and $119,177 for kerosene for the corresponding period in 1934.

Collections for this month to date from both levies totaled $1,312,580, as against $1,205,227 for the same period last year, showing an increase of $107,353.

HINTS TO WOMEN ABOUT MEN AND SALADS—

by THE FLAVOR TWINS

ZEST TANG

If the man of the house merely grunts at salads, try this simple bundle of life and pep! Mix finely chopped cabbage with halved shrimps—use a few fresh or canned shrimps for garnish. But here's the trick. Stir in Durkee's Dressing. He'll positively gloat over it's peppy tang.

Or give him this treat! Crabmeat or tuna fish fresh or canned, mixed with shredded lettuce and diced green peppers. Then stir in the Durkee's Dressing—it has a way of its own of coaxing out the flavors a man likes—and it gives him lots of zest. How did those flavor twins—Zest and Tang—get their start? The answer is Durkee's secret 75-year-old flavor-formula—it has never been successfully copied.

BEER TAX 'ALL WET' PETITION CHARGES

Injunction Plea Based on Number of Bottles in Barrel.

The state's conception of the number of bottles of beer it takes to make a barrel is all wet, a petition filed yesterday in Fulton superior court said in effect.

The Southland Ice Company seeks to enjoin Paul H. Doyal, W. B. Harrison and R. E. Matheson, members of the state revenue commission, from collecting taxes on 13 cases of 24 standard 12-ounce beer bottles at the same rate as a 31-gallon barrel.

The beer license law declares that 13 cases of 24 bottles of 12 ounces each shall be taxed $1.25, as is a 31-gallon barrel. But the Southland company represents more than a dozen other beer distributors and contends that it really takes 13.77 such cases to make 31 gallons.

Therefore, it seeks to have the tax equalized and the revenue commission enjoined from collecting taxes on the faulty basis.

Judge E. E. Pomeroy set the date of hearing for August 10, after issuing a rule nisi for the commission to show cause why the injunction should not be granted.

ACCIDENT IN TEXAS TAKES THREE LIVES

Three Young Men Killed.
Fourth Youth and Girl
Injured in Crash.

HOUSTON, Texas, July 25.—(AP)—Three young men were killed and a fourth youth and a girl were injured today when two cars collided a short distance out on the Beaumont road.

Only one of the dead men had been identified. He is Lloyd Smith, 20, of Liberty. Another is a man about 25, believed to be from Alexandria, La. The third is a youth about 18, picked up at Dayton. He was believed to be from Lake Charles, La.

The young woman, also unidentified and believed to be from Alexandria, was near death in a hospital here. The injured youth, J. D. Arnold, 18, of Liberty, is in a local hospital.

All were riding in a car bearing a Louisiana license number.

A bus ticket from Alexandria to Houston was found in the girl's purse.

ATLANTA GIRLS FINALLY TAKE COURT SERIOUSLY

NEW YORK, July 25.—(AP)—Much chastened and subdued, in contrast to their conduct last Monday, three runaway girls came into women's court yesterday to be separated by Magistrate J. J. Goldstein on the basis of age and offenses with which they were charged.

The eldest of the three, Anna May Mansquin, 17, of Uniontown, Pa., was taken in charge by the Catholic Big Sisters, who will send her home. The Travelers' Aid Society will return Edith Smith, 16, to her stepmother on Washington street, Atlanta, Ga. The youngest, a girl named Smith, was charged as wayward minor.

The third of the trio—who came to New York, they said, to see the sights—was Margaret Atkinson, of 520 Washington street, Atlanta. Because she was under 16 she was turned over to children's court on a charge of juvenile delinquency.

Earlier in the week, in Yorkville court, they had refused to take the proceedings seriously and were turned over to women's court.

E. F. JOHNSON BETTER FOLLOWING OPERATION

Edwin F. Johnson, leader of the majority faction of the Fulton county commission, was reported resting comfortably yesterday following an emergency operation for strangulated hernia.

Johnson suffered an attack yesterday morning and his physician advised an immediate operation, which was performed at St. Joseph's infirmary. The doctor said the commissioner will be confined to the hospital for approximately three weeks.

The commissioner is under the care of a special nurse. He appeared before the committee investigating the affairs of Fulton county Wednesday afternoon, after having come back from his summer home at Sea Island on a short business trip.

N. Y. SHIPBUILDING FIRM HALTS ALL OPERATIONS

CAMDEN, N. J., July 25.—(AP)—Few workers reported today at the New York Shipbuilding Corporation plant, closed 11 weeks by a strike, and the company halted for the day its attempt to resume operations.

As a result the tension that grew marked yesterday was relieved. There were no disorders, and the streets about the plant had been congested with thousands of strikers and sympathizers for two days were nearly deserted.

Only a handful of the workmen who returned to their jobs Tuesday in defiance of union orders to continue the strike entered the shipyard today. Continuation of picketing hinges on the outcome of a hearing before a vice chancellor tomorrow on an order for the union to show cause why a restraining injunction should not be granted the company.

CHINESE AND JAPANESE ARE SLAIN BY BANDITS

TOKYO, July 25.—(AP)—The Hainan correspondent of Rengo (Japanese) news agency, reported today that 500 alleged bandits killed five Japanese and a number of Chinese Tuesday afternoon at Naimanchi, about 145 miles northwest of Mukden. He reported that the Japanese and Manchoukuan police were unable to defeat the raiders and that a number of persons were kidnapped.

Both Japanese and Manchoukuan troops and airplanes, he reported, had been sent in pursuit.

VATICAN CITY, July 25.—(AP)—A concordat between the Vatican and Yugoslavia was signed formally today in the offices of Eugenio Cardinal Pacelli, papal secretary of state.

Pacelli signed for the Vatican and Dr. Auer, minister of justice, for Yugoslavia. Afterwards Pope Pius received Auer and his party.

OFFICIALS SEEK CAUSE OF FATAL PLANE CRASH

SUMTER, S. C., July 25.—(AP)—Investigation was started today to ascertain the cause of an airplane crash here last night which claimed the lives of Arthur H. DeLoache, 23-year-old pilot, and Ray Bland, 15, who was riding with him.

The plane, a virtually new monoplane, went into a tail spin over the Sumter airport and crashed to the ground from an altitude of 250 feet. It landed on its nose and was demolished. Both DeLoache and Bland were dead when onlookers reached them.

NEIDECKER BROTHERS ARRIVE IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, July 25.—(AP)—George and Aubrey Neidecker, who were taken into custody at Norfolk, Va., yesterday, arrived at police headquarters late today to face French charges of embezzlement with their brother, B. Coles Neidecker, international banker.

The warrants, issued at the request of French Acting Consul General Pierre Moeneclay, are based on charges in connection with the collapse of the Travelers' Bank in Paris.

RIVER PROJECT IN S. C. LIMITED TO 20 MILLION

WASHINGTON, July 25.—(AP)—Secretary Ickes said today the proposed Santee-Cooper river development, in South Carolina would not receive more than $20,625,000 of work relief funds, and the federal donation would be limited to 45 per cent.

He said at a press conference he knew nothing about reports that part of the loan would not have to be repaid because it was decreasing the unemployment burden.

"The entire 55 per cent must be repaid at 4 per cent interest, with amortization in 30 years," Ickes said.

Fire-year-old Mary Jane Dahlen, of Minneapolis, obeyed her mother. Told not to play in the streets because she might be struck by an automobile, Mary stayed on the front porch, playing with her dolls. But today she was in a hospital with bruises and lacerations, and her dolls were in a junk heap. A car, jumped the curb, rolled over the lawn and smashed into the porch, injuring Mary.

THREE MEALS A DAY

KITCHEN TESTED RECIPES

by Sally Saver

Long she pondered o'er the question
Till her soul was sorely tried
And the moments sped by swiftly
Toward the time she must decide.

Each proposal she weighed carefully,
Each suggestion was decided.
How to solve this vexatious problem
She alone could now decide?

When at length no time was left for
For milder to decide,
All triumphant she leaned forward—
"A CHOCOLATE sundae, please!" she cried.

Chocolate Marlow.
Sixteen marshmallows, 1 square bitter chocolate, 1 cup milk, 3 tablespoons sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla, salt,
1-2 pint whipping cream.
Put marshmallows, chocolate and milk into top of double boiler and steam until marshmallows and chocolate are melted. Add sugar, vanilla and salt; cool. When cold and slightly stiffened, fold in the stiffly beaten cream. Turn into freezing tray, of mechanical refrigerator and freeze without stirring. Serves 5 to 6.

Marshmallow Sauce.
Twenty marshmallows, 1 cup sugar,
1-3 cup water, 3 tablespoons cream,
1 teaspoon vanilla.
Melt marshmallows with cream in top of double boiler. Meanwhile boil sugar and water together until syrup spins a thread. Add vanilla and serve hot, on chocolate marlow.

Served with a good home-made cake, this makes one of the best possible hot weather desserts.

Summer Menus.
Summer menus invariably demand light cool desserts that will leave a pleasant suggestion of subtle flavor.
Of course, it is well to serve fresh fruits frequently, varied in many ways as salads, a bowl of fruit, or in combination with sauces and cream, without growing monotonous. But there are often times when some special touch is needed to lend importance to the occasion, and refrigerator desserts are ideal for such use. Desserts that can be prepared hours in advance and be set aside to chill in the refrigerator are simple to make and very festive to serve. They can be elaborate or simple, and will always please.

Frozen Fruit Salad.—Combine 2 slices diced pineapple, 1 diced orange, 1 sliced banana in 1-4 cup maraschino cherries, and moisten with 1-2 cup mayonnaise. Fold in 1 cup sweetened whipped cream. Pour into shallow pan and freeze, or fill empty baking powder cans with salad, sealing with strip of adhesive tape.
Freeze three hours. Remove by running a knife around inside. Serve in slices on lettuce, garnishing each slice with a spoonful of mayonnaise and a cherry.

Frozen Chocolate Plum Pudding.—
Scald 3-4 cup sweet milk. Combine 1-3 cup granulated sugar with 2 tablespoons flour, add to milk and cook in double boiler for 20 minutes, stirring frequently. Add yolks of 2 eggs and a dash of salt, and cook for 3 minutes. Melt 1 square bitter chocolate over hot water and add, mixing thoroughly. Then add 1 cup mince meat.
When cool, add 1-4 cup chopped nuts and fold in 2 stiffly beaten egg whites.

Chill. Whip 1-2 pint whipping cream, add 1 teaspoon vanilla, and fold into fruit mixture. Pour into pans and freeze.

Chocolate Wafer Dessert.—Use 1 package chocolate wafers (very crisp), which may be purchased in round tin boxes. Whip 1-2 pint cream, and add 2 tablespoons sugar and 1-2 teaspoon vanilla. Spread each wafer with whipping cream mixture, and as spread, pile on top of each other to form a cylinder. Lay roll on side on serving dish. Cover top and sides with remaining filling. Sprinkle with chopped nuts, if desired. Allow to stand in refrigerator for 2 or 3 hours (not in the freezing compartment). Cut in diagonal slices and serve. This gives a delightful ribbon-like effect.

Toasted Cheese Sandwiches.

Eight slices buttered toast, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 cup milk, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon pepper, 1-3 cup cheese (cut fine), 2 egg yolks, 1 tablespoon catsup.
Melt butter and add flour. When blended, add milk and cook until thick sauce forms. Stir constantly. Add seasonings and cheese, cook 1 minute.

Add yolks and catsup. When well blended, spread on buttered toast. Arrange in shallow pan and broil until tops are brown. Serve warm with forks.

Peach Upside Down Cake.

One cup brown sugar, 1-3 cup butter, 1-2 cup water or peach juice, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1-2 cups peaches.
Mix sugar, butter and water in deep frying pan. Heat slowly and stir constantly until brown liquid forms. Add cinnamon and peaches, and cover with batter.

Batter.

One and one-half cups flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1-2 cup sugar, 1 egg, 1-2 cup milk, 4 tablespoons fat (melted), 1

teaspoon vanilla.
Mix ingredients and beat 2 minutes.
Pour over peaches. Bake 30 minutes in frying pan in moderate oven. Remove from oven, let stand 5 minutes and turn out, peach side up. Serve plain or with cream.

COOKIES AND CAKES.

Cookies and small cakes for lunchcon or tea, and with frozen or fruit desserts occupy an important place in the menus of even the busiest homemakers. Modern cooky jars are just as interesting as those we were brought up on—perhaps more so, because cookies have come to have so many variations. Cookies baked with fillings are delicious, of course, and so are the modern versions of filled cakes.

HOUSE CHAIRMAN HITS SENATE'S AAA CHANGES

Jones Belabors Amendment Permitting Processors To Sue For Taxes.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—(AP)—A battle of senate-house conferees over amending the agricultural adjustment bill to allow processors to sue for recovery of taxes was waged today when Chairman Jones, of the house agriculture committee, lashed out at the senate for adopting that amendment.

With hundreds of suits already pending throughout the country, Jones, who will head the house conferees next week, said the senate proposal would create "chaos." He charged the processor "was merely the agency through which these taxes were passed on to the general public."

While he admitted afterwards to newspapermen "we may have to leave in provision allowing some suits" he insisted the house would never stand for the "too broad" senate amendment opening the way to suits by any processor who can prove he paid the tax and did not pass it on to the consumer. Some indication of the "future" safeguards he had in mind was given in his lengthy statement according to the senate provision.

"If such suits are permitted, and recovery is had," he said in the statement, "the money should be placed in custody of the court as a trust fund. The processor, at the most, should be allowed to recover no more than the tax which he has paid on stocks which he has on hand and unsold at the time the suit is instituted."

"The wholesaler should be allowed to recover taxes on any stocks which he has on hand and unsold at such time. The retailer and distributor should certainly be accorded the same privilege. In fairness, the balance should go to the consumer who is the ultimate purchaser, but he probably would not be located."

"No just man would deprive a citizen of his right to recover any taxes improperly paid by him," the chairman said. "On the other hand, no reasonable man should ask to recover taxes which he has passed on."

The absence today of House Republican Leader Snell necessitated postponing until Monday the sending of the bill to conference. Also viewed as a source of conference controversy, is the senate's elimination of house provision for using 30 per cent of customs receipts to subsidize agricultural exports. Jones has made it plain he would stick to it.

Jones indicated some amending would be insisted upon of the Kerr-Smith tobacco control and Bankhead cotton acts tacked onto the bill by the senate. He indicated, though, these features, as well as adding $50,000,000 for purchase of submarginal lands and $40,000,000 for control of Bangs disease and bovine tuberculosis, and removal of authority for fixing minimum prices on other products than milk, would be of minor difference.

ATLANTA AERIALIST, HURT, REJOINS CIRCUS

STOUGHT, Wis., July 25.—(AP)—Mrs. Frances Peasley, an aerialist, rejoined a circus today, despite three broken ribs, the loss of two teeth and severe lacerations and bruises in a circus accident last night.

Mrs. Peasley, whose home is in Atlanta, Ga., was hurt when the strap which she gripped with her teeth broke and she plunged about 20 feet and her head struck the corner of the circus ring. She refused to remain at the hospital more than a few hours after the rest of the troupe had left town today.

Carriers of The Constitution at Their Annual Outing at Glenwood Springs; Barbecue Is Feature of Event

Once a year the carriers of The Constitution have the outing of a lifetime. The big family is shown here at Glenwood Springs yesterday, where they filled up on barbecue and staged all sorts of athletic contests during the day and last night little was heard from participants—if your paper is late this morning it'll be because of too much barbecue, too much athletic activity or just plain wornoutness.

1,000 ARMED FARMERS PUSH MAYOR'S OUSTER

Federal Government Keeps Grip as Mexicans Confer With Military.

MATAMOROS, TAMAULIPAS, MEXICO, July 25.—(AP)—The federal government maintained stern control in Matamoros tonight as more than 1,000 farmers and ranchmen seeking the resignation of Mayor Rafael Mangula C. became increasingly insistent in their demands.

Armed with 30-30 rifles and six-shoters, the Agrarians, most of whom live in the near-by interior, maintained guard while their leaders conferred with General Gabriel Cervera, commandant of the Matamoros garrison.

Mayor Mangula C. also conferred with General Cervera, who, by moving troops from his small command into the city hall, displacing the regular police, was credited with preventing probable bloodshed last night after the Agrarians had threatened to invade the city.

Earlier reports that the Agrarians had dispersed proved only partially true. While some hundreds moved away apparently for their homes, leaders said all were within easy call.

The main body of about 1,000 was stationed behind a levee which marked the city limits.

NATION-WIDE STORES NOW DELIVER FREE

Headquarters office of the National Stores Company, of Georgia, at 174 Butler street, S. E., report they are today advertising free delivery service for their stores for the first time since the inception of this independent group of grocery merchants over a year ago.

Their advertising committee advises that their free delivery service will not increase the prices of products, but that they will, as always, furnish the highest quality food at lowest prices.

The Atlanta group of Nation-Wide Grocers are affiliated with the Nation-Wide System in the east and west of over 7,000 stores, and with the buying and merchandising power of this formidable chain of independent grocers, they are in position to sell nationally known food products to the households of Atlanta and surrounding territory just as low in price as any other chain store organization in this territory, and in addition, save their customers lots of time and trouble, by delivering their orders promptly and without additional cost to them.

M'GILL IS HONORED AGAIN BY SOCIETY

International Group for Crippled Children Appoints Sports Editor to Committee.

The International Society for Crippled Children, Inc., yesterday announced the appointment of Ralph McGill, sports editor of The Constitution, as a member of the press section, committee on educational publicity.

The appointment, Paul H. King, president of the society, announced, "is made in well-merited recognition of your distinguished service for the benefit of crippled children."

The society has honored McGill previously with similar appointments, and a phrase coined by him in writing of the 1930 football game sponsored here for the benefit of the Scottish Rite hospital is now in use all over the country as a slogan of the society—it is "Strong legs will run that the weak may walk."

The strong legs have run each year and through their charges and countercharges on the gridiron have brought to many children strength and with it the blessed power to walk. . . . this small part of the newspaperman's contribution to these crippled children first brought him into contact with the society which this year again has conferred on McGill membership on this important committee.

GROUP ON WAY TO SEEK FREEDOM FOR HERNDON

NEW YORK, July 25.—(AP)—Intent upon investigating civil liberties in Georgia and Alabama, a group of writers set out today for Atlanta, Ga., under the auspices of the national committee for the defense of political prisoners.

The committee of five was headed by Jack Conroy, of Moberly, Mo., and included Alfred H. Hirsch, of New York, secretary of the national committee. The expected to arrive at the Robert Fulton hotel, Atlanta, Saturday night by automobile.

A statement issued by the national committee here said the group was interviewing Governor Eugene Talmadge, of Georgia, in an effort to bring about repeal of the antiquated slave law on which Angelo B. Romo, a negro, was recently sentenced to 18-20 years on the chain gang.

ITALIANS IN IRELAND PROTEST EVICTIONS

DUBLIN, Ireland, July 25.—(AP)—"Hooliganism" was officially blamed today for Northern Ireland's religious rioting, which has taken place since July 12, and Minister of Finance John McNeill said he was ready to use the full force of the law against the guilty persons.

Should the Irish Free State's government find present resources insufficient to safeguard the property and freedom of all citizens, he told the senate last night, special powers might be demanded.

No disorders were reported today from Belfast, seat of the rioting and incendiarism, but Italian residents in that city protested to Rome against alleged eviction from their homes during the disorders.

NATIONAL 'PARKWAYS' PLANNED AT CAPITOL

WASHINGTON, July 25.—(AP)—Long-range, tentative plans for a chain of national parkways, eventually linking the famed Blue Ridge mountains with Vermont's granite hills, were disclosed today after a White House conference on a proposed memorial boulevard between Washington and the Gettysburg battlefield.

Members of the Gettysburg Memorial boulevard commission made the disclosures after discussing with President Roosevelt preliminary details concerning the proposed highway linking Mount Vernon, the Lincoln Memorial here and the famous Pennsylvania battlefield.

TROOPS TO PRESERVE ORDER AT MILL STRIKE

COLUMBIA, S. C., July 25.—(AP) Governor Olin Johnston said today he had taken steps to see that national guardsmen on duty at the scene of a textile strike at Pelzer confined their activity to preserving order locally.

Commenting on U. T. W. claims that the troops had conveyed strike-breakers into the mills, the Governor said he already had investigated and had conferred with Adjutant General James C. Dogier.

"General Dogier told me that if the troops were assisting anybody from the outside to come into town to work he would order it stopped immediately," said the Governor.

Constitution Carriers Entertained At Annual Outing in DeKalb County

By RALPH T. JONES.

If your Constitution is a trifle late in turning onto the porch this morning, it is because your carrier had to stop en route and look at his own picture in the paper.

Yesterday noon the annual outing of The Constitution's carriers was held at Glenwood Springs swimming pool and picnic grounds, in DeKalb county. All the carriers, their wives (only one to a carrier), sweethearts (ratio unreported), and children were there. Just exactly how the attendance statistics finally summed up was never reported, but John Moyer, city circulation manager, said 570 plates were prepared for the lunch and there weren't any left over.

Howard Haire, classified advertising manager, read a message from the Clark Howell who was genuinely regretful that he couldn't be there. Mr. Howell mentioned the fact that The Constitution boasts of the largest group of carriers of any paper in the country and wrote that a large share of the credit for The Constitution's handsome margin of leadership in circulation was due to the work of the carriers.

That, however, was an old story to those of us who work for Atlanta's finest morning newspaper. We've known the gang that calls Moyer boss is really the gang that makes or breaks all of us. How we appreciate that fact.

There was every ingredient for a successful picnic to be found at Glenwood Springs yesterday, from a congenial crowd of big boys and big girls to a little boy who, to the delight of the crowd, brought out a pig.

Tracked Down by Dogs, Girls Held as Burglars

Two Stone Mountain girls were arrested Wednesday night by DeKalb county police on charges of burglary after they had been tracked down by bloodhounds.

The girls and two youths are alleged to have entered the cottage of E. V. and W. O. Venable, have the Briarcliff extension, and are charged with theft of a clock and some novelties valued at approximately $2.

There are Mary Ferguson and Rose Marie Pittman, both 18 years old. Their companions were C. G. Scott, 18, of 46 Hildreth avenue, Decatur, and R. A. Crider, 19, of 16 Sycamore drive, Decatur. The boys were held by the Venables, who said they captured them after they had seen a light coming out of the cottage which they claimed had been entered several times.

OKLAHOMA PROFESSOR SAYS AAA 'ALL WRONG'

WASHINGTON, July 25.—(AP)—From an office surrounded by AAA policy-makers today came a blunt assertion that the New Deal's production control program is "all wrong."

Dr. J. S. Sanders, head of the department of agricultural economics at Oklahoma A. U. & M. College, was the speaker. But the weather-beaten professor leaned back in his chair to discuss the government's "Devil's island" in San Francisco bay.

"If it hadn't been for him," she told reporters in the first disclosure of her break with her imprisoned mate, "I would not be where I am today. I'm through with him forever. I'm through with all men."

TOBACCO REGULATIONS APPROVED BY HOUSE

Bill Provides U. S. Supervision of Markets Where Asked by 2-3 of Growers.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—(AP)—The house late today by a voice vote gave its approval to the Flannagan bill providing for compulsory government inspection and grading of tobacco on markets where such a service is favored by two-thirds of the growers.

The measure, introduced by Representative Flannagan, democrat, Virginia, passed with only one major change. An amendment by Representative Warren, democrat, North Carolina, requiring the two-thirds vote instead of a simple majority, before a market may be designated a government graded market, was adopted.

An attempt to eliminate the compulsory feature, prohibiting the sale of ungraded tobacco on government graded markets, was defeated by a rising vote. The count was 70 to 55.

This amendment, offered by Representative Umstead, democrat, North Carolina, split the North Carolina tobacco delegation, with Representative Hancock in vigorous opposition and Umstead and Representative Kerr speaking as strongly in its favor.

Debate on the bill consumed most of today's house session. Proponents contended the measure would give growers a safeguard against receiving an unfair price for their tobacco, tend to end speculation in the auction warehouse system of selling tobacco and promote equal prices for like grades.

The opposition maintained compulsory government grading would wreck the age-old auction system, force farmers to submit their tobacco to government inspectors whether they wanted to or not, and would not tend to increase the price of tobacco.

Besides providing for the designation of markets as government graded, the measure would authorize the agriculture secretary to establish standard government grades for leaf and to set up a service for the interchange of information relative to the price of what different grades of tobacco are bringing on various markets.

Pre-Trial Love Turns To Hatred for Waley

CHICAGO, July 25.—(AP)—The love Mrs. Margaret Waley professed for her husband, following his arrest and conviction in the sensational kidnapping of George Weyerhaeuser Jr., appeared to have turned to hatred today.

On her way to the federal reformatory at Milan, Mich., to serve 20 years for her part in the abduction, the plump blonde bride of just 20 months asserted with unceasing bitterness:

"Harmon Waley didn't get a third of what he deserved."

Waley, under a 45-year sentence, has been moved to Alcatraz prison, the government's "Devil's island" in San Francisco bay.

"If it hadn't been for him," she told reporters in the first disclosure of her break with her imprisoned mate, "I would not be where I am today. I'm through with him forever. I'm through with all men."

KIDNAPING 'CHISELER' ACCUSED BY VICTIMS

Wagner Faces Fine of $345,000 and 180-Year Term as He Goes on Trial.

NEW YORK, July 25.—(AP)—Weyerhaeuser, Stoll, Distelhurst, Kaul—names which have made headlines for a year and more—figured in evidence today against Alfred Otto Wagner, 38, alleged "misery chiseler."

Wagner went on trial in federal court charged with mailing threatening letters demanding money to relatives of six victims of kidnappings or mysterious disappearances. If convicted of all nine counts of the indictment he would be liable to a maximum fine of $345,000 and a sentence of 180 years in prison.

A jury was chosen speedily and Berry Stoll, of Louisville, Ky., whose wife was kidnapped by Thomas Robinson Jr., still at large, and released after payment of ransom, took the stand.

He identified a letter demanding $50,000 for his wife's safe return allegedly sent by Wagner.

Then came Alfred E. Distelhurst of Nashville, Tenn., to tell how his little daughter, Dorothy Ann, disappeared in 1934, how he received a letter from New York demanding $50,000 ransom, how he came here to pay it and how, while he was negotiating, his little girl's body was found not far from home.

A Department of Justice operative identified a letter demanding $200,000 from the family of George Weyerhaeuser which Wagner allegedly sent and relatives of Jackie Kaul, who was kidnapped by Thomas Robinson Jr., still at large, and released after payment of ransom, took the stand.

The jury was selected in 12 minutes after a request of the defense attorney that Judge Clarence G. Galston ascertain whether any of the veniremen had seen two recent motion pictures which heroized G-men, Wagner's captives.

The attorney, Murray Krienderer, said he would subpoena J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, as a defense witness.

JARRARD IS CONVICTED IN TAXI DRIVER'S DEATH

Gainesville Jury Recommends Life Sentence for Slayer of Whitmore.

GAINESVILLE, Ga., July 25.—(AP) A jury in Hall superior court tonight convicted Robert Jarrard of murder for the slaying of Oren Whitmore, Gainesville taxicab operator, and recommended that he be sentenced to life imprisonment.

The jury took the case shortly after 5 p. m. today and returned its verdict about four hours later.

Jarrard and Virgil Myers, indicted in the same case, were called to trial this morning but a severance was ordered. Judge B. P. Gaillard Jr. said Myers would go on trial at the opening of court tomorrow.

Jarrard told the jury today he shot Whitmore but asserted that he fired in self-defense. He said that on June 18 he and Myers engaged the taxicab operator to drive them to their homes 10 miles north of here and that an argument arose over the fare.

Jarrard quoted Whitmore as saying he would collect the amount asked. Then, the defendant testified, Whitmore reached toward his pocket and he (Jarrard) drew a pistol and shot him. Jarrard said Myers took the wounded man into the woods. He was found later and taken to a hospital, where he died.

Whitmore's sister, Mrs. Lois Perry, of Gainesville, testified that her brother told her before his death that the man who was in the car with Whitmore and his sister on the morning of the shooting was the man who shot him. Jarrard, she said, had already engaged Whitmore for the trip when the taxicab driver took his sister home, with Jarrard in the car with them. She said her brother told her on his death bed that no argument had taken place between them.

Among witnesses introduced by the state before it rested were Mrs. Frank Parker, to whose home Whitmore walked after he was shot; F. E. Wallace, who found him lying beside the road and came to Gainesville for an ambulance; Ben Rogers, former sheriff, who arrested Jarrard near Anderson, S. C., and others.

Jarrard's mother sat beside her son during the proceedings. Myers' wife and 8-year-old son were seated with him.

The rattlesnake, measuring 75 inches long and possessing 15 rattles, was killed by a man and a woman. Tom Donaldson killed the snake near the mill pond yesterday. It was believed the snake was the same one which bit Ezra Hendley, 45-year-old farmer, near the spot where a cow was killed by a snake recently, and where the dog came upon "Old Rattler."

Before Donaldson could strike the snake with a stick, the dog rushed in to attack, but the snake's fangs struck the dog and he died shortly afterwards.

TOBACCO LAW ATTACK IS OPENED AT MACON

44 Warehousemen File Writ Against Fee Act; Hearing Is Set for Tomorrow.

MACON, Ga., July 25.—(AP) A legal battle against Georgia's new tobacco law fixing selling charges for the leaf was opened today in federal court here and Judge Bassom Deaver set it for a hearing at 9 a. m. Saturday, while 15 south Georgia cities made preparations for the opening of the auction season on August 1.

What effect, if any, the court proceedings would have on the opening of the markets remained a matter of speculation, but in Atlanta, Tom Linder, commissioner of agriculture, said he hoped growers would not put "one single pound" of tobacco on the market if the injunction is granted. Linder, indignant at the action of the warehousemen, said he was studying the likelihood of intervening in the litigation in behalf of the farmers.

Appeal to Linder.

Various tobacco growers and legislators, in messages to Linder, said farmers were in favor of the new law, which reduces the amount warehousemen may charge for handling the leaf.

The subject of tobacco selling charges was aired in the hall of the house of representatives in Washington, where Representative Cox, of Georgia, charged that under the auction system of selling tobacco, farmers are subject to "wholesale robbery" and "exploitation" by buyers. Cox, speaking in support of the Flannagan tobacco grading bill, now pending in congress, said the bill would establish government standards for tobacco and "advise" the grower as to the quality of his product, and assure them a fair price.

In their petition in federal court here, the warehousemen said the handling charges allowed by the bill were "confiscatory" and would cut 20 to 30 per cent from charges formerly permitted.

A writ from Raleigh, N. C., said warehouse charges in that state had been set up by the warehousemen themselves at the same rates as were in effect under the NIRA code last year. Warehousemen there said the charges in Georgia were about 25 per cent higher than those in North Carolina before the Georgia regulations took a limit to the fees. Three fees are charged in eastern warehouses in North Carolina: A warehouse charge of 10 cents per 100 pounds; an auction fee of 15 cents for each pound of less than 100 pounds and 25 cents for each sale over 100 pounds, and a commission fee of 2 1/2 per cent on the sale value of the weed.

and worship by American citizens in Germany should be an essential provision of any reciprocal trade agreement which our secretary of state negotiates with the reich government.

"Mind Own Business," Blanton says. He questioned whether German government officials "imbued with barbarous bigotry would honorably fulfill the provisions of a reciprocal trade agreement unless those provisions were overwhelmingly favorable to Germany."

Leaping to his feet as Dickstein concluded, Representative Blanton, democrat, Texas, demanded that America "mind its own business."

The state department, Blanton shouted, is the agency to handle business with foreign countries.

"I want the foreign governments of the world to understand," he said, "that the gentleman from New York speaks without authority on this floor. He has no right to castigate the matter of any foreign country, no matter how much he doesn't like him."

LAGUARDIA STANDS FIRM ON HIS FEET

NEW YORK, July 25.—(AP)—Despite growing criticism of international complications, Mayor F. H. LaGuardia stood firm tonight in his resolve to retaliate against Nazi Germany for what he called "discrimination against Jewish Americans."

Overruling his chief legal adviser for the second time, the mayor affirmed his stand against recognizing a commercial treaty between Germany and the United States.

The German embassy in Washington was furnished with a full report on the situation by Acting Consul General Gustav A. Mueller, who took the position that the case was one for the state department to handle.

"It is not for Mayor LaGuardia to decide if treaties have been violated," he said, referring to the mayor's contention that the reciprocal agreement had been violated by Nazi tactics against Jewish Americans.

Responding to an inquiry by Corporation Counsel Paul Windels, the state department said it had no record of any American having been discriminated against in Germany.

LaGuardia said this information was "contrary" to that which he had received as a member of congress.

In the municipal assembly, Alderman Walter R. Hart introduced a resolution calling on President Roosevelt to take steps toward abrogating all treaties between this country and Germany.

Many. He also sponsored a proposal to outlaw the swastika at public meetings. Both resolutions were sent to committee.

The present situation, which provoked a protest meeting of the friends of the new Germany last night, arose when Commissioner of Licenses Paul Moss refused to grant a massage operator's license to a German alien.

RENEGES AT HAIR BOB ON 100TH BIRTHDAY

DEWITT, Ark., July 25.—(AP)—Mrs. Ruth Almond celebrated her 100th birthday today but she didn't have her hair bobbed.

Preparations for a trip to the barber ended abruptly with her announcement that she had decided against the announced mode.

"I have lived a century with long hair and will spend the rest of my life in the same way," said "Aunt Ruth," as she is generally known here.

Mrs. Almond enjoyed her birthday celebration, but said she does not want to live another hundred years if it were possible.

"I've seen too many changes during the past century," she declared.

An interior view of the new Piggly Wiggly at Tenth and Peachtree streets where a special innovation in food merchandising has been installed. The entire store has been laid out so customers will be able to shop more conveniently, said H. J. Meyer, president of the local Piggly Wiggly unit. A big lobby will be given to every child accompanied by parents at either of the two stores on Friday and Saturday.

N. Y. Chinatown Good Samaritan, 'Convict Turned Evangelist,' Dies

NEW YORK, July 25.—(UP)—A Chinatown ex-convict died today.

Four decades of service to down-and-outers have elapsed since Thomas Joseph Noonan, 57, served time in Sing Sing—earning him the title "Bishop of Chinatown."

For 28 years Tom headed the Chinatown rescue mission, where he, dispensing food and "flips" and spiritual aid, but he never mixed them. Derelicts did not have to be "preached at" or "profess conversion" to join Noonan's bread line or sleep on his couch.

Chinatown, where he sang and danced at old McQuirk's hall, Three-Drink Harry, now an ordained Presbyterian minister, Hophead Army, who peddled dope, are but three of the thousands who began their "reconstruction." "Tom hated the word 'conversion' in the old Chinese theater he made into the 'Cathedral of the Underworld.'"

Noonan, a street waltz orphaned at two, died in Long Island College hospital of a heart ailment. His voice and work were familiar to thousands, for in recent years he used radio, in addition, thousands of tourists visited his place, after its fame caused it to be put on "rubber-neck wagon" tours.

Noonan slept in coal bins and doorways and stole his food from garbage cans and fruit stands as a lad. At 14, he was arrested for stealing shoes. Two years later he was sentenced to two years in Sing Sing for burglary.

A Thanksgiving Day talk by a visiting minister "got under his skin" as Noonan expressed it. Then he heard Maude Ballington Booth, noted prison worker, invite the convicts to visit her when they were released, for aid in re-establishing themselves.

A few months later, a sergeant "issued" suit on his back and Noonan, stood in Grand Central station. An interview with Mrs. Booth made him a social worker and evangelist the rest of his life.

105 MILES TRAVELED ON TRICYCLE BY BOYS
PITTSBURGH, Pa., July 25.—(AP)—Two pipe-smoking, tobacco-chewing West Virginia mountaineers—both still under 12—came Pittsburgh "the once-over" today.

William L. Poe, and his brother, Robert, 9, arrived last night after a 105-mile trip aboard a tricycle from Montrose, W. Va., near where they live on a farm with their grandfather.

After astounding a group of policemen with some cuspidor marksmanship, the boys explained they came to this city to look up "Uncle Stephen Poe." William added:

"We ain't seen our old man lately but we kinda thought we might find him here. Last I heard of him he was in Texas."

Police put the boys up for the night after discovering that no such address existed as the one at which they believed their uncle lived. Arrangements were started to return the boys to their home.

"The boys' only concern about staying all night at a detention home was that they might be deprived of their pipes and tobacco. They were right. They were. But the coppers pipes and tobacco were returned to them today."

The boys took turns pedaling the tricycle from Montrose, they said. Alternately, one rode on the cross-bar in the rear. Their trip took them two days, they said.

Two obliging truck drivers gave them lifts along the way.

Knox Accuses Roosevelt of Attack On Prestige, Power of High Court
LOS ANGELES, July 25.—(AP)—Colonel Frank Knox, Chicago newspaper publisher, accused President Roosevelt of an attack on the prestige and power of the supreme court, and of undermining the power and prestige of the supreme court.

Colonel Knox mentioned as a possible republican presidential candidate, asserted his party is engaged in a "war" with the supreme court, a program of sound policies upon which it will go to the country with prospects of victory that grow brighter every day, as policy after policy of the democratic crumbles before the remorseless force of law, logic, and human experience.

Referring to his charge concerning the supreme court, Colonel Knox, who spoke before the Los Angeles county republican assembly, said: "With a full sense of the meaning of my words, and, as such acts in accordance with the sacred oath taken not only to defend and to protect, but to preserve the constitution."

AT ATLANTA'S THEATERS

Murder Mystery Film Loew's Grand Feature

Ranking with the year's finest mystery stories and guaranteed to perplex the most astute spectator until its final moments, "The Murder Man" comes to Loew's Grand Theater today for a week's run. This Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production has Spencer Tracy and Virginia Bruce in chief roles, with Lionel Atwill, Harvey Stephens and Robert Barrat in subsidiary parts.

"The Murder Man" opens in a shooting gallery in downtown New York. There are three customers—a well-dressed broker, a sailor and a drunk. Across the street is a prosperous appearing man, Halford, entering his limousine. The motor car drives away. At the end of the ride Halford is found dead, shot through the head.

After this introductory episode, the story turns to Steve Gray, expert reporter of crime and mystery stories for the New York star. Steve (Spencer Tracy) is called "the murder man" because of the success with which he has solved mysteries.

Steve's first act is to dictate a story of Mander's arrest for the murder. Even before the police have connected him with the killing. Yet Steve's story proves to be an accurate forecast of what the police actually do. Mander is drawn into the crime, arrested and seems fairly certain he will be executed for Halford's slaying.

Through the story of the mystery runs a lighter theme, which is concerned with the romance between the reporter and a girl (Virginia Bruce) who writes special articles for the paper.

Capitol Has Contest For "Super-Amateurs"
Every six or ten weeks the Capitol, Atlanta's only vaudeville theater, stages what it terms a super-amateur contest. This means a contest in which those amateurs who have won first places in regular contests, held each Friday night, are allowed to enter. Tonight is the scheduled date for another super-contest at 9 o'clock, in addition to the regular stage and screen program.

Super-amateurs who have been notified to appear include Slim Haskins, singer; Nick Lester and his rhythm band, Glenn Ballard quartet, the Tyne Sisters, harmony duo; Mary Frances Davis, acrobatic dancer, and Dorothy Norris, tap dancer.

The contest will be broadcast over WFTL, from 9 until 9:30, but the winners will be selected by audience applause, recorded on an applause machine.

On the screen, through Saturday, the Capitol offers "Village Tale," with Randolph Scott and Kay Johnson. Eight acts of vaudeville are offered on the stage. A complete program arrives at the theater Sunday with a feature, "Chinatown Squad," starring Lyle Talbot, and the road show unit "Hi Ho Broadway," offering eight acts of big time vaudeville.

Boles and Muir Star In Georgia Feature
Although John Boles and Jean Muir, currently playing the leading roles in "The Murder Man," are not featured in the Capitol, they are featured in the Georgia theater, come from widely separated parts of the country and never met until they were introduced on the set of the picture by Director William A. Seiter, there are some interesting parallels in their early careers.

Both players started out to become doctors. Boles attended a university in Texas, intending to go on to Johns

PWA LOANS FORBIDDEN FOR ALABAMA POWER

4 Cities Temporarily Balked in Effort to Construct Distribution System.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—(AP)—Efforts of four Alabama cities to build public power distribution systems with public works money bogged down again in the courts today.

Upon petition of the Alabama Power Company, Justice Oscar R. Loring, of the District of Columbia supreme court, issued an order forbidding PWA to make loans to the cities until August 1 when Secretaries Ickes and Morgenthau must show cause why a temporary injunction should not be issued.

The cities—Florence, Sheffield, Tusculum, and Decatur—are in the immediate vicinity of Muscle Shoals where TVA is ready to serve them with government "yardstick" power. Contending Secretary Ickes, PWA administrator, planned to use the federal money to "beat down" power prices and force it from business, the Alabama Power Company cited a $150,000,000 investment in Alabama. It said it had offered to sell distribution systems to the cities but this had been refused.

Only last week the court of appeals at New Orleans lifted the PWA loan negotiations from another legal bog by reversing a decision by Federal Judge Grubb which challenged generally the authority of TVA to engage in the power business.

The action before Grubb was brought by a group of Alabama Power preferred stockholders. Representative Carmichael, from the district embracing the four cities, said tonight he was "disappointed." He announced only yesterday the treasury was ready to forward funds for the power facilities at Sheffield and Tusculum.

The Alabama will attend the hearing August 1, and said he will "co-operate with the cities in any way I can."

BETHLEHEM HITS PWA STEEL ORDER

Grace Says Foreign Producers Will Profit Over U. S. Industry.

NEW YORK, July 25.—(UP)—Eugene G. Grace, president of Bethlehem Steel Corporation, told newspapermen today foreign producers may benefit more than American steel-makers from Public Works Administration purchases if a recently promulgated PWA order is carried out.

He quoted from an order which he said was issued May 25 to the effect that borrowers of PWA funds must buy their materials abroad if foreign prices are 15 per cent under domestic prices on orders of $10,000 or more.

"There is no question," Grace said, "that foreign steel products can be delivered in this country at prices 15 per cent less than the domestic quotations because of the lower labor and other costs abroad. The result of this would be to create unemployment in the steel industry eventually." He added that Bethlehem was protesting against this order.

BUSINESS DROPS

Reserve Board Finds Food Prices Has Declined.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—(AP)—A sharp decrease in factory employment pay rolls, and a seasonal production decline today were stressed by the Federal Reserve Board in its review of mine business.

The bright spot in the month's survey was an increase in the output of mines. Retail food prices were lower despite little change in the average level of wholesale prices.

The board's combined index of industrial production, without seasonal adjustment, stood at 86 per cent of the 1923-25 average in June as compared with 87 per cent in May. Seasonally, factory employment slumped to 79.7 per cent from 81.1, and pay rolls from 85.5 to 66.5.

WEST IS NOMINATED AS UNDERSECRETARY

WASHINGTON, July 25.—(AP)—Charles West, former representative from Ohio, who has been serving as President Roosevelt's contact man in congress, was nominated by the President today as undersecretary of the interior.

West was defeated last year in the democratic primaries in Ohio for the senate nomination.

He later was appointed to the federal Farm Credit Administration and is on that organization's pay roll. As undersecretary of the interior he will be ranking aid to its republican chief, Secretary Ickes.

Clean Out Kidney Poisons

Wash Out Your 15 Miles of Kidney Tubes. If kidneys don't pass 3 pints a day and get rid of more than 3 pounds of waste matter, the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters may become clogged with poisonous waste and the danger of acid poisoning is greatly increased. Bladder passages are difficult, which often smart and burn like scalding water and cause discomfort.

This acid condition, brought about by poor kidney functions is a danger signal and may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swollen feet and ankles, rheumatic pains and dizziness.

Most people neglect their bowels which contain only 27 feet of intestines that neglect the kidneys which contain 15 miles of tiny tubes and filters. If these tubes or filters become clogged with poisons, it may knock you out and lay you up for many months. Don't run any risk. Make sure your kidneys empty 3 pints a day.

Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS, an old prescription, which has been used successfully by millions of kidney sufferers for over 40 years. © 1934, Foster-Milburn Co.

BY THE BOOK GAME EDITOR.

For the benefit of prospective entrants in the $1,800 Book Game, we present another summation of the contest.

There are 80 pictures in the series. Each illustrates the title of a familiar book. The 35 prizes, ranging from $5 to $1,000, will be awarded to readers who turn in the most appropriate titles for the 80 pictures.

There are no subscriptions to obtain. Non-subscribers are invited to take part. There are no slogans or names to be chosen, letters to write or essays to compose. "The Romance of Books," together with the first 12 pictures of the series, is still available without charge, at The Constitution office, or by mail for a 3-cent stamp.

There is still ample time to get the pictures up to date and begin now playing the Book Game. Pictures beyond No. 12 are 5 cents apiece when bought singly, which is, of course, the regular price of the single issue of The Constitution in which each picture was originally published. In larger quantities, the rate is lower—any 8 pictures for 30 cents, or 40 pictures (one-half the complete series), for $1.25. Mail orders for back pictures must include an extra 3 cents for postage.

"What to Read," from which all of the titles to be used were selected, can be consulted at local libraries. It desired for home use it may be ordered through The Constitution for 30 cents a copy, by mail 54 cents.

DIVORCE IS PLANNED BY NANCY CARROLL

RENO, Nev., July 25.—(AP)—Nancy Carroll, motion picture actress, was at a Reno hotel today with the announced purpose of establishing residence for a divorce from Thomas Malloy, former magazine editor.

The actress replied "no" when asked if she planned to marry William Van Rensselaer Smith, attorney, whose name has been linked with hers.

SLAYER SHOOT'S SELF AS POSSE CLOSES IN

GREELEY, Col., July 25.—(UP)—Jack Prim, who shot and killed a Greeley police officer, killed himself today when a posse surrounded him in a sand pit five miles west of here.

As the possemen opened fire upon him, he turned his pistol upon himself, firing one shot through his head. He also was struck by bullets fired by officers. He died at a hospital here.

SCAFFA CASE TO GO TO N. Y. JURY TODAY

Detective Portrayed as Would-Be "Big Shot" by Prosecuting Attorney.

NEW YORK, July 25.—(AP)—Noel Scaffa, discreet detective ace in jewel theft cases, was portrayed alternately as a would-be "big shot" and the object of "professional jealousy" by police in concluding summations today in his federal court trial for perjury.

Tomorrow the jury will be given the case, the outgrowth of Scaffa's testimony before a federal grand jury investigating his part in the return of $185,000 of stolen jewels belonging to Mrs. Margaret Hakesworth Bell.

Mrs. Bell was robbed by two men in a hotel room at Coral Gables, Fla., January 26, and the jewels returned to her by Miami Beach police March 19. J. Howard Carter, assistant United States attorney, asserted in his summation that New York racketeers, for whom the government is still searching, are the "higher ups" responsible for the robbery.

"I don't think there is any question," Carter said, "but that Scaffa got that jewelry from someone here in New York. New York racketeers were mainly responsible for the stick-up."

Return Planned.

"Return of the jewelry in Florida was planned by Scaffa," Carter said, to make himself a big shot among the Florida police, and by returning the jewels in Florida he would keep the federal bureau of investigation out of it. And he pretty nearly succeeded.

The government prosecutor said Scaffa had gone to Florida in the case chiefly to obtain leniency for Nicholas Montone, who, with Charles Call, were arrested as Mrs. Bell's robbers.

"Scaffa, in this case," Carter said, "was not interested in catching the thieves. He was interested in making money, and in taking care of Mr. Montone, who was involved from the beginning."

Defense Counsel George Z. Medalie, who did not call Scaffa a witness, charged in his summation that Scaffa "was a victim of police enmity, professional jealousy and animosity because he was putting himself in the way of department and personal enemies."

Medalie said Scaffa was indicted for perjury by the grand jury in an effort to get him to "talk" after G-men bungled the case.

Bungling Charged.

"This job of all jobs done by the Department of Justice agents is an absolute bungle," Medalie asserted, "and it will remain one even if Scaffa is sentenced to the electric chair."

Referring to the testimony of Henry L. Glidden, American representative of Lloyds, of London, which insured the ship, the Scaffa-Winners jewelry, to Glidden's New York apartment some two weeks before they were returned, Medalie said it was Scaffa's work against Glidden's.

Glidden also testified he gave Scaffa $50,000, of which $20,000 was returned after Scaffa took a fee of $11,500, allegedly—in effecting the recovery of Scaffa's delivered jewelry.

Scaffa distributed $15,000 as gratuities among Florida police and prosecuting authorities.

Glidden also testified he gave Scaffa $50,000, said Medalie. "Nobody but Glidden says that on the night of March 6 Scaffa delivered the jewelry. How can you tell it is Scaffa who is lying and Glidden who is telling the truth?"

At the start of today's session Federal Judge Carroll C. Hincks refused the defense motion for a directed verdict of acquittal, but granted the defense dismissal of two of six counts in the indictment as immaterial to the case.

WILEY POST OFF

Flyer and Will Rogers En Route to New Mexico.

LOS ANGELES, July 25.—(AP)—Wiley Post and Will Rogers hopped off today for a New Mexico resort to spend a few days' vacation, although when they left the airport the ship was flying north and it was generally assumed they were off on the first leg of the round-the-world flyer's projected journey to Moscow.

The information came from a confidential source which did not disclose their destination more specifically. It drew support from the actor-humorist's comment in his newspaper column Wednesday when Rogers said:

"I have been blathering about flying over to a ranch in New Mexico and some guy with poor slant on geography got it mixed up with Siberia."

Post was said to be desirous of getting away for a complete rest before taking off on his proposed flight to Siberia.

PASSENGERS GO TO SEA ON WESTERN RAILROAD

OGDEN, Utah.—(UP)—Boats and steamer lanes are usually associated with the sea, but few railroad passengers riding through Utah realize that they too are "going to sea."

The 32-mile railroad trestle of the Southern Pacific west of Ogden crosses one of the narrower parts of the Great Salt Lake. The water is even saltier than the ocean, and proved a stumbling block to direct rail travel until a long bridge was built 32 years ago at a cost of $8,000,000.

Continuing, she said, "The accent on economy when it began to show 22 miles per gallon." And Dodge owners everywhere agree with Miss Morgan.

Sweeping the country with its record-smashing low cost of operation, the New-Value Dodge is known everywhere as America's "Economy Car."

Robinson Denounces Discreditors of 'Deal'

FORREST CITY, Ark., July 25.—(AP)—Senate Majority Leader Joe T. Robinson voiced a stinging denunciation here tonight of political groups he said had for their purpose the discrediting of the national democratic administration and President Roosevelt and charged "they are united in a drive to seize control of the government."

"In this combination are old-line republicans, disgruntled democrats and the proponents of many varieties of impracticable schemes," declared Robinson in an address before a gathering of Arkansas young democrats.

"Typical of these discreditors," charged the democratic majority leader, "are Chairman Fletcher, of the national republican committee, and Senator Hastings; Long, of Louisiana, and Shouse, president of the Liberty League."

"It must be understood that these groups are not representative of any common social or political viewpoint. Their principles, in so far as they have any, are divergent and conflicting. They are united in a drive to seize control of the government."

FARMS IN GEORGIA DECLINE IN VALUE

Census Report Shows Fewer Farms, But Greater Acreage Since 1930.

Decline in value of Georgia farm land and buildings and in the number of farms in the state between 1930 and 1935 is shown in a recent release of the bureau of census of the Department of Commerce in Washington. The farm census report showed, however, that more acreage in the state is now devoted to farming than in 1930.

The majority of the other states in the Union show a similar change in farm value and acreage employed, though most other states have experienced an increase in the number of farms, according to the report. Value of Georgia farms in 1930 was $571,335,409, while on January 1, 1935, the value of land and buildings was estimated at $429,853,798. Farm acreage in the state jumped from 22,078,630 acres in 1930 to 25,306,056 in 1935.

The state has approximately 5,000 fewer farms now than in 1930, according to the bulletin, with 255,508 farms in 1930 and 250,508 on January 1, 1935. The report, released by Director William L. Austin of the census bureau, shows there are nearly 7,000,000 farms in the United States, with a total acreage of over one billion acres and a land building value of nearly 33 billion dollars.

ACCORD REACHED ON FRANCHISE TAX

Tennessee Commissioners May Set Own Assessment For Utilities.

NASHVILLE, July 25.—(AP)—While off-the-floor conferences were held on changes made by the house in the franchise tax bill as it relates to assessments of utilities, the legislative marked time today awaiting the outcome.

As a result of the conferences, participated in by Governor McCallister, a number of members of the senate and representatives of railroads and other utilities, an agreement was reached providing in effect:

1. That the commissioner of finance and taxation may make his own assessments of all utilities for the franchise tax and not be bound by the valuation fixed by the railroad and public utilities commission for ad valorem taxation.

2. That there be deleted from the bill a section stipulating that the franchise tax assessment shall not be less than a corporation's book value. (Railroads already were excluded from that section of the bill as they are required to keep their records in accordance with I. C. C. regulations.) This provision actually was a reassessment basis for all corporations.

SOFT COAL RAIL RATES ARGUED BEFORE I. C. C.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—(AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission today heard arguments in a new fight between northern and southern soft coal producers to obtain advantage in the New England coal market.

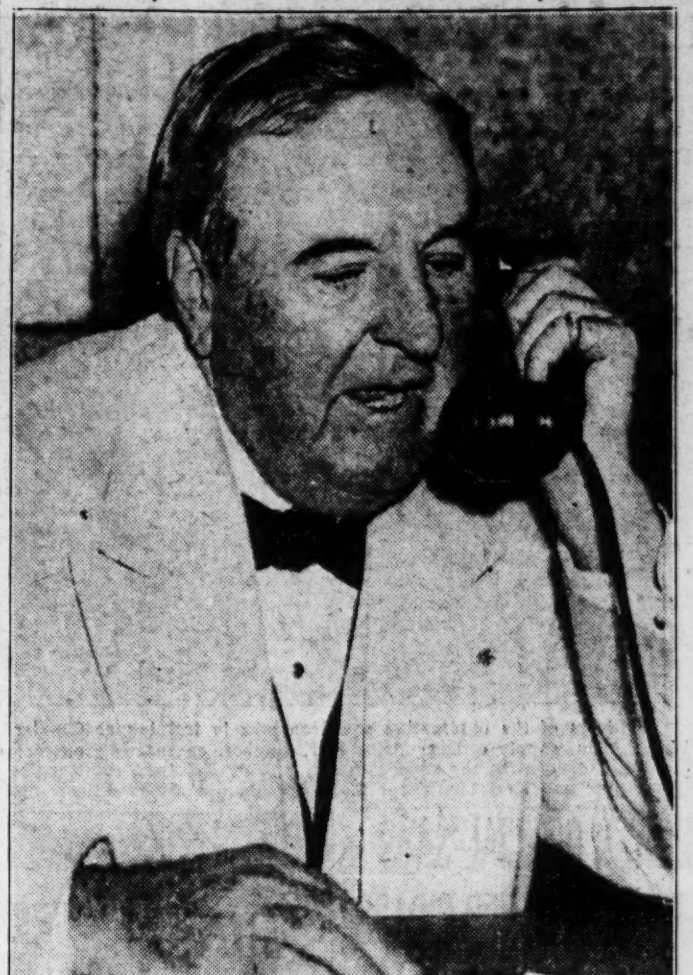

The hearing was on complaint of the Pennsylvania Coal & Coke Company that southern producers were favored by over transportation freight rates from northern mines through New York to be adjusted to parity with the Hampton Roads rates.

The hearing today completed two days of testimony in the case and the examiner took the matter under advisement before a recommendation to the commission for a ruling.

Tom Heflin Arrives to Work for FHA

J. Thomas Heflin, former United States senator from Alabama, arrived in Atlanta yesterday to begin his work for the Federal Housing Administration. The former senator will be a sort of "stump speaker" for the FHA. He is shown in the FHA divisional offices here. Photo by Associated Press.

Heflin, Ready To Start FHA Work, Voices High Praise for Roosevelt

Bubbling over with enthusiasm for the New Deal and all things Rooseveltian, ex-Senator J. Thomas Heflin, of Alabama, who fought democratic presidential nominee Alfred E. Smith in 1928, came here yesterday to become a minor New Deal official.

Heflin yesterday was appointed to the Federal Housing Administration and came here to commence his work for that organization.

He is to make stump speeches for the southeastern division of the FHA, similar to those which brought him victory in eight campaigns for membership in the national house of representatives and two for United States senatorships.

Heflin is attached to the Washington headquarters of the FHA, and after he has completed his work in the southeastern states, he will return to Washington for assignment in other sections of the country.

Warm for Roosevelt.

The former senator, in an interview, had a good word to say for every New Deal agency mentioned, especially his own, but he waxed warm on the subject of Roosevelt.

"The President has destroyed the power to produce a panic," he said. "That's why the panic producers, the Wall Street money interests, are so bitter against him."

"By distributing money to poverty-stricken families, Roosevelt prevented revolution in every state of the country. He'll make a better President from 1937 to 1941 than he is now, and Louisiana."

POWER OFFICIAL SAYS BOX CONTAINED CIGARS

tempt "to lobby the conference."

Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, one of the conferees, issued a statement late in the day asserting it had been "an immemorial custom" to have "experts" attend senate-house conferences, and he did not intend to change it.

Wheeler added he had offered to permit Huddleston to have an expert from a utility company as an aid, if he desired.

"I would not have issued a statement on the matter if Representative Huddleston had not done so," he said. "But in view of that I say that Cohen has had much to do with the drafting of the utility bill. He has acted as drafting clerk of the committee, lent us by the department. . . . It strikes me it comes with poor grace for a member of the house committee to object to the senate conferees having whomsoever they desire as technical experts providing they are in the government service."

The day also saw a resumption of the house rules committee's investigation of lobbying on the utility bill.

The "mysterious newspaper wrapped box" first entered the senate investigation yesterday with a broad and direct insinuation from Chairman Black, Democrat, Alabama, that it was given by Carpenter to Patton on the day before the "death sentence" vote in the house.

Patton would make no comment today, beyond saying in answer to questions he had no intention of replying in rebuttal and doubted it would call him.

Carpenter, whose frequent recital yesterday of "I don't remember" led to a question today from Senator Minton, Democrat, Indiana, as to whether there was still something wrong with his memory, today gave the committee an account of his whereabouts on the day before the vote, Sunday, June 30.

"I called my wife about that," he said. "She laughed and said I was confused." She said they were out together all day with the boys. We drove by Arlington cemetery to Fairfax, Va., and then to Alexandria, Va., where we had lunch. Then we drove to Bradley farms, because the boys wanted to see the horses and dogs there. We were looking around with the boys all day. I don't know why I didn't remember that yesterday.

The call to Dallas, it developed, also brought the information regarding the box and the cigars. The son, John W. Carpenter Jr., came to the phone after he had talked with Mrs. Carpenter and said he had given Patton the box, apparently but partly filled.

After yesterday's hearing, Carpenter in response to questions he went to his hotel room and was joined by Joe A. Worsham, vice president and general counsel for the Texas Power & Light Co. Together they dictated the testimony and Worsham left to see Patton at the Capitol.

Worsham, who was not present during this testimony, was summoned when down town in Washington. Carpenter was asked to leave the room while he testified. He corroborated Carpenter's story and said, in addition, he had talked with Patton scarcely an hour before the vote.

Why Not Dies?

"Why did you associate Patton with the cigar box incident," asked Senator Minton.

"Because the testimony showed he had been in Mr. Carpenter's room at one time or another."

"But Representatives Dies, Democrat, Texas, also had visited Mr. Carpenter in his room."

"I thought if there was anybody there that Sunday, it was Mr. Patton because he went on a fishing trip with Mr. Carpenter and the boys a few days later."

"Did you tell him what the boy said about the cigar box?"

"Yes, I did."

"Who did he say?"

"He didn't say anything."

Dr. Hugh S. Magill, president of the American Federation of Utilities Engineers, said that organization's activities to the house committee.

$25,000 Spent by Lobby.

The figure of $25,000 as a "liberal estimate" of what was spent opposing the utilities bill, he said, adding that in the last six months a total of $90,000 had been spent in opposing legislation considered prejudicial to the interests of utilities investors, including the TVA bill.

"Our particular purpose was to protect the investor," he added, "but in doing that not to be harmful to the consumer."

He told of talking with not more than a dozen representatives and senators, including Senator Dieterich, Democrat, Illinois, author of the amendment rejected by a one-vote margin which would have removed the "death sentence" from the senate utility holding company bill.

VINSON IS IN FAVOR OF COUNTY UNIT PLAN

ber stamp for Governor Talmadge's political activities.

"The administration of road construction through the county commissioners will require the imposition of no more federal authority on the state of Georgia than that now exercised in handling federal road funds through the State Highway Board."

Vinson Coming Home.

After issuing the statement, which cited the need for improving county feeder roads, the Georgia congressman who, from the beginning, has been the storm center of the state highway fund controversy, caught a night train for his home at Milledgeville, where he plans to remain over the week-end before returning to Washington Monday.

Neither the White House nor Thomas H. MacDonald, chief of the United States Bureau of Public Roads, has any comment to make on the statement. President Roosevelt is expected to throw some further light on his attitude when he makes his reply to the letter sent him this week by eight of the Georgia counties which have joined in a request that building of the Ball's Ferry bridge, located in the Vinson district, not be made a condition precedent to releasing the state funds.

Expectations are that the White House reply will go forward within the next 48 hours. There is every indication it will uphold the position of the Secretary of Agriculture Wallace and Mr. MacDonald, though shifting the basis from the Ball's Ferry project to more general grounds of the public interest and the authority of the federal bureau to approve or disapprove programs of state highway projects built out of federal funds.

Original Program.

The program of Representative Vinson announced he would urge today is the same as that drawn up by Secretary Wallace and Mr. MacDonald at the time plans were first considered for government intervention in the state highway row. Originally it had been planned to launch the program around the first of July, but action was deferred in the hope of reaching some compromise that would eliminate the necessity for such drastic course.

Subsequently Governor Talmadge's series of conferences on the subject with President Roosevelt, Secretary of Commerce Roper and Mr. MacDonald, he was preceded by Clark Howell, Ensign, who participated in the conferences acting in the role of intermediary in an effort to adjust differences between the Governor and the national administration.

The Roosevelt and Roper conferences were marked by a display of cordiality on both sides. Governor Talmadge found himself unable to agree with the national officials on final release of the state funds, with the result that he returned to Atlanta leaving the situation still deadlocked. Waiving most of the reasons for his position, he urged that the state executive if he would consent to building the foundations of the bridge this year, deferment of work on the superstructure until 1937, a proposition he rejected.

Means Political War.

Should the Roosevelt administration move to force individual dealings with the state, it would mean a political war of the State Highway Board, bitter political warfare of a more intense form than heretofore witnessed between the Governor and the President and the Georgia governor, already listed as one of the most outspoken critics of the democratic New Deal.

Altogether the issue would seemingly be sealed as relates to whatever political ambitions Governor Talmadge may have next year when his present term expires. Administration forces would be certain to throw the full weight of their influence back of some candidate opposing the Governor either for re-election or the senate in connection with the election of Governor Richard B. Russell Jr., who he is reported to be planning to unseat.

Still another speculative factor is that the federal presidential primary in Georgia next spring. Various reports have been published from time to time as to the governor's plans for seeking to capture the state delegates to the national convention. At this end, of course, would be contested vigorously.

Without attempting to forecast definitely what the administration may do with the Vinson proposal, it is none the less apparent that the developments here today may cast a long shadow on the Georgia political situation in 1936.

Vinson Expects Plan.

As for Representative Vinson, he eventually issued a statement, believing the administration will adopt the county commissioner plan for spending the federal highway money, also political sagacity would have dictated a course more of discretion than bold stroke he used in openly advocating such drastic action. Asked to comment on the possibility of the program being adopted he had nothing further to say.

Sentiment among members of the Georgia congressional delegation is somewhat divided on the highway issue. All but two of the ten house members joined in the petition for elimination of the bridge project as an obstacle to release the funds but more of them may adopt a different attitude on the county commissioner plan, particularly if the proposal develops any enthusiasm among the individual counties.

Regardless of this phase of the situation, however, it seems safe to predict that the President will not complete release of the funds without the State Highway Board meeting the federal roads bureau on some halfway ground. The least the President is expected to do at the moment is to hold the Georgia money "on the hook" as he indicated to Governor Talmadge he would until the "controversy" is settled.

Some profess to believe the President left himself an out on the latter commitment by saying the controversy was ended so far as the national administration was concerned when and if Governor Talmadge finally there is no room for compromise on his position.

Statement in Full.

The statement of today follows in full:

"The smoke screen, otherwise known as the Ball's Ferry bridge, with which the Governor of Georgia and his state highway board are so assiduously endeavoring to cover up the real facts as to the Georgia highway situation is too thin to deceive the people of the state."

Communication to the Georgia delegation on May 6, Mr. MacDonald, chief of the Bureau of Public Roads, advised them as follows:

"The delegation should know that neither the administration nor the highway commission or the engineering organization is adequate or competent to carry out any increased program and that conditions will have to be remedied."

"The letter of the secretary of agriculture, Mr. Wallace, dated June 25, further points to the specific conditions to be met to place the board and its organization upon a basis which would be legally sound to administer further federal highway funds. These conditions are not new and are an interpretation of the agreement entered into by the Governor in September, 1935, as a condition for the release of the highway funds to the state at that time."

"Since the highway board is apparently not disposed to meet these conditions, it appears that serious consideration should be given to some other method of securing for the state of Georgia the benefit of the work relief funds which have been allotted to the state."

Only Technical Truth.

"The Governor points with pride to the fact that the state of Georgia has no bonded indebtedness and that general state have incurred state debts in the building of their main roads. This, however, does not stand the test of truth except in very technical sense. For more than a decade the counties of Georgia have supported through their credit and through the issuance of county bonds the building of state roads. The state is now actually indebted to the counties, as is well known, more than $28,000,000. By a constitutional amendment adopted in 1931 this debt to the counties was recognized and repayment to the counties ordered at the rate of 10 per cent annually, beginning in March, 1936. This will mean that next March the state must be in a position to pay the counties $2,600,000."

"The Georgia law of 1919 promised repayment to the counties. The County Commissioners' Association secured the passage of the law by the 1935 session of the Georgia General Assembly, and to establish a reserve of state highway income to meet these payments in and after 1936. This law had the unanimous backing of the county commissioners. It was passed by the general assembly but it was vetoed by the Governor. Does this mean that repayment of the $2,600,000 will not be made to the counties next year? There are 150 miles of public roads under the charge of the counties. No appropriation bill was enacted by the last general assembly. The state and county tax levies for the year 1937 are confronted with serious constitutional barriers. The 15-mill property tax limitation constitutional amendment comes before the general election in 1938. If this is adopted, where do the counties go for funds to improve the 80,000 miles of road?"

Interest of State.

"Under these conditions it would not be in the interest of the people of the state if the work relief funds to the extent of some $10,000,000 were made available for the use of the counties for the improvement of local roads? These roads face an uncertain future. It does not appear that there will be sufficient funds to maintain them in their present condition to say nothing of the much-needed improvements."

Therefore, in view of the fact that the secretary of agriculture has found the state of Georgia is without a satisfactory highway department and that the state is without a highway law, the President permit in such cases that the funds shall be administered by the state executive if he would consent to building the foundations of the bridge this year, deferment of work on the superstructure until 1937, a proposition he rejected.

Should the Roosevelt administration move to force individual dealings with the state, it would mean a political war of the State Highway Board, bitter political warfare of a more intense form than heretofore witnessed between the Governor and the President and the Georgia governor, already listed as one of the most outspoken critics of the democratic New Deal.

Altogether the issue would seemingly be sealed as relates to whatever political ambitions Governor Talmadge may have next year when his present term expires. Mrs. Glenn Leaves in August To Visit Scandinavian Countries

By Sally Forth.

DENMARK, that country to which the United States sent its first woman ambassador, will prove a magnet for Mrs. Thomas K. Glenn this summer. Although the much-traveled Mrs. Glenn has spent a great portion of her life abroad, she has never visited the Scandinavian countries. In planning this summer's itinerary, she selected Denmark and Sweden for her destination. She will be accompanied by her brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. William E. Seaman, of Lansing, Mich., and their son, Robert Seaman.

The family quartet sails from New York on August 3 aboard the steamer Europa. As the big German liner leaves port, the travelers will wave good-bye to Thomas K. Glenn, who will journey to New York with his charming wife to bid her bon voyage.

With her traveling companions, Mrs. Glenn will go ashore at Bremerhaven, from whence they will be joined there by Mr. and Mrs. Seaman's older son, John, who has been traveling in Russia for the past two months. Two weeks will be spent in Sweden, where they will motor through the rural section of this colorful land before going to Denmark.

ATLANTA will be represented at the wedding of Jane Gilman and Porter Warner, which takes place Saturday afternoon in Chattanooga, by Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Keough. The Atlantans will motor to the Tennessee city early Saturday morning to be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Fontaine at their home atop Lookout Mountain. Mr. and Mrs. Keough will be central figures at the week-end social gayeties assembling Chattanooga society.

On Monday, Mr. Keough will return to Atlanta, but his popular wife will drive over to Signal Mountain, where she will be joined by Mrs. Duncan Richmond, of Fort Bliss, Texas, the former Mary McCleskey, of this city, and Helen Priess, of the city, and Alice May Troy. With Corinne Keough the three last named will spend several days at Signal Mountain inn, where many hours of bridge will be enjoyed by the foursome.

BETTY TAYLOR is inordinately fond of soaps—the expensive, delicately-scented kinds that fall in the class of luxuries. Many of her friends know of this weakness, so among the array of gifts she received last Christmas was a beautiful box of very fine imported soap, perfumed with her favorite odor. She was very proud of it.

In fact, she prized it so highly that she decided to save it for special occasions. Just ordinary soaps did not seem to warrant the use of such elegant soap.

Two weeks ago Betty left for a grand western trip. This, she decided, would be an occasion important enough to take along the cherished soap. But she could not find it. It was missing from the cabinet where she had stored it.

Now Betty owns half-interest in a dog, a cunning little Boston terrier. The other half belongs to her young brother, Bob, and the dog is called "Bebo," a name coined from the first two letters of the name of each. Betty is also inordinately fond of "Bebo."

But to get back to the soap. Betty searched high and low, with no success. Finally her mother, Mrs. Robert Taylor Jr., chanced to see a cake of it on the back porch. She inquired of the maid why it was there and learned that the chauffeur had been using it for some time in "Bebo's" bath. He had chosen it from all the soap in the cabinet because it smelled so nice.

DELVING into the affairs of the very young set, Sally is informed today of the christening of tiny Katharine Bunting Massengale, which takes place on Sunday afternoon. The ceremony will be performed at 3:30 o'clock at All Saints Episcopal church by the Rev. W. W. Memminger in the presence of only members of the family and a limited number of friends.

Katharine, you know, is the three-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Massengale Jr., the latter having been Frances Morton, a popular Atlanta belle and a debutante of two seasons ago. She is a typical brunette, with dark eyes and hair and an olive complexion.

She will wear for her christening an exquisite little dress of batiste with long full skirt, with a yoke made of tiny strips of batiste and lace, all frilly and babyish. No doubt, in years to come, little Katharine will hold this dress as one of her dearest possessions, for it was the one worn by her father, W. R. Massengale Jr., when he was christened. Suzanne Memminger and Harriett Ann Baylor will stand as godmothers for the baby and her uncle, Lorenzo Massengale, will be godfather.

The baby bears the name of her maternal grandmother, the late Mrs. Katharine B. Morton, and her maternal grandfather is J. C. Morton, of Brooklyn, N. Y. Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Massengale Sr., of Atlanta, are her paternal grandparents.

By MARGARET GORMAN NICHOLS

Stephens of preceding installments: Noel Stuart and his older sister, Milnor, live with their Aunt Jessica in an old house on Stuart Island overlooking the Potomac. The girls' only income is from their old Baltimore home, made over into a studio, and the aunt plans to marry Milnor to Stephen Gordon, wealthy young member of the island's summer colony. Noel becomes friendly with Scott Court and Ned Wilson, young writers, and Linda Farley, artist-tenant of the Baltimore house. Aunt Jessica doesn't know that Scott, Noel and Stephen are greatly attracted to Noel and she frankly tells him she loves him. When Stephen returns from New York with his fiancée, Deems Gordon, who is divorced, Aunt Jessica learns of the friendship of Scott, Ned and Stephen and sends for Noel. When Scott's first novel is accepted by the publisher, Noel tells him she understands when he tries to explain that he is devoted to Milnor's beauty. Aunt Jessica dies, willing all to Milnor. The sisters are the Gordon's guests for a time, but Noel goes to Linda to hunt a job. Linda and Noel marry, and the same day Stephen proposes to Noel. Stephen's mother, reads of the engagement in Paris as comes to New York. Noel visits her and meets Carl Hedges, magazine editor. She writes for Stephen and Deems a slight club four times the four or till dawn. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

INSTALLMENT XXIII.

"That is Noel Stuart, but Carl, on her engagement finger is a ring my son gave her." She laughed at this good-looking young man who was famous for publishing stories other editors had rejected and making success of them. "I am well acquainted with your success with the opposite sex," she told him, "but I'm very fond of that girl and I want her for a daughter."

"Then," he said, "it will be only platonic. She's an unusual looking girl. I think she'd tell you what she thought of you. Introduce me, Beatrice, to your future daughter."

"When I walked in the door," Hedges said, "I thought I'd found an excellent reason for staying. Beatrice thwarted all my hopes by telling me you're engaged."

"To her son. I have heard," she said, coming to the point, "that you like to discover new writers."

"Are you a writer?"

"No, but I have a friend who is. If she had been less attractive, he would have wanted to run from this. Everywhere he went people were thrusting their writing on him. But Noel Stuart was by far the most attractive girl in the room, and Carl Hedges had nothing particular to do this evening."

Noel had a purpose. "His first book has been accepted, but he has several short stories that are very good. I've read them. Would you, her eyes met his frankly. "Would I read them? If I do, I'll think of a girl in a gold dress."

"They are good stories," said Noel. "I'm sure if some one would take interest . . . to send them to me," said Carl Hedges.

Noel was with him all evening. They danced together, sipped champagne, and Noel had to refuse to leave the party and go night-clubbing with him. His attentions amused her, for she knew he had selected her only because she was the only "new" girl there.

Beatrice watched them together and occasionally smiled at Noel, a smile which meant, "It's all right, dear. You're sensible enough to know Carl's line."

When Noel put her hand on Carl's, said good-by and smiled at him, the evening had been a success. He would read Scott's stories, he said. It was 2 o'clock when they reached the hotel. Beatrice took off her wrap and lit a cigarette.

"You see, Noel, this thing called charm. If you hadn't been engaged then Carl . . ."

Noel looked at her frankly. "Why is it you haven't sent for Stephen?"

"I wondered why you hadn't asked me that. When I divorced Deems, Stephen was furious with me. He was only a boy but he understood. He told me he never wanted to see me again."

"But he does!"

"There was a terrible scene. It seemed only right that he should come to me."

"But you left him," said Noel.

"Yes, that's right, isn't it? I left him. All these years I've thought of him; every year I'd think, 'He's a little taller this year. But I was so afraid some girl would marry him for his money.'"

Some girl, Noel thought, almost had.

"He said," said Noel, "that when we knew each other, you and I, I should wire him. He wants to come up."

Beatrice's eyes looked through the cigarette smoke.

"Deems, you mean?"

"No," said Noel. "Stephen. Can't Deems come, too?"

Noel knew the furious battle between pride and humility that was going on in her.

"Yes," said Beatrice. "Tell Deems to come, too. Wire them in the morning."

The next day Noel wired Stephen and received word in reply that they would be in New York about 9 that night. Beatrice, early in the day, left Noel at Madison City and went shopping. They met for lunch.

"I don't deny it, Noel, I'm timid and seeing Stephen and Deems, Deems and I didn't quarrel recently. The awful silence was worse. But Stephen and I had awful scenes. He'll never forget them, but I hope he's forgiven."

"If you had seen his face when I knew you were here?"

Women are strange creatures," said Beatrice. "When Deems became infatuated with another woman, my pride more than my heart was hurt. I divorced him and went away. I should have swallowed it and taken him back because he really loved me. Yet my silly pride made me suffer for years." She smiled at Noel sadly. "Nothing has ever been able to make up for his loss."

"With him it has been the same."

"Do you think so? Oh, but it's impossible now. I mustn't think of it. When we meet, we'll be polite strangers who once loved each other. Still love each other, Noel wanted to say.

At dinner that evening on the roof at the hotel Beatrice was her poised, cool self. They said little. Noel was thinking of Carl Hedges and the possibility of Scott's stories being accepted. But Scott was so far away. She must think of Stephen's coming. It was unfair to think continually of Scott!

In the drawing-room of Beatrice's suite they waited.

"I've heard of these ridiculous situations," said Beatrice. "You know, divorced people accidentally being placed next to each other at a dinner table, but I never thought I'd be involved in such a thing. I'm nervous. I wonder if I'm going to feel that he's a total stranger or if he's going to seem like my husband. If it's the latter, I'll kiss him without thinking."

Beatrice smoked to hide her nervousness.

"Does this seem absurd to you, Noel? Two people no longer young. Love doesn't necessarily belong in the twenties. When Deems and I met, we're going to think of our youth together. The old intimacy in our eyes, even though we are strangers now. All our youth, our love. Those things are not forgotten."

The telephone rang. Beatrice got up and went to it, the train of her dress skimming the rug.

"Tell them to come up," she said and turned to Noel. "Deems and Stephen are downstairs."

It was Stephen who came in first, and for the first moment Beatrice

SIGHTS OF OLD LONDON.
V—Crowning the King.
A great thing to see in London is the crowning of a new king or queen. It does not happen often, but when it does it is an event to remember. The actual crowning, or coronation, takes place in Westminster Abbey and the archbishop of Canterbury is in charge of the ceremony. The new king sits in the famous coronation chair, which is covered for the event with cloth-of-gold. He promises that he will govern by the laws made by the British parliament; that he will carry out a rule of justice and mercy; and that he will maintain the Protestant religion.

We may not be in London when such an event happens, but in any season we can go to Westminster Abbey and see the coronation chair. It dates back to the time of King Edward I, who ruled six and a half centuries ago. It is made of oak but under the seat is "the Stone of Scone," which was taken away from Scotland during the reign of Edward.

Before the stone had been used during the crowning of Scottish kings, there is a legend that the Stone of Scone was used as a "pillow" by Jacob, the Hebrew patriarch. The legend says that the stone was moved from Palestine to Scotland before it fell into the hands of the English. There is reason to believe, however, that it was obtained from a quarry near Scone, a town in Scotland.

Until a little more than a century ago, it was the custom for a great banquet to be held in Westminster hall at the crowning of each new monarch. During the first course of the banquet, a "champion" would ride into the hall on a fine steed, and would shout so all could hear: "If any person, of what degree soever, high or low, shall deny our sovereign lord (the new king) . . . here is his champion who saith that he lieth, and as a false traitor, being ready in person to combat with him."

The champion then would throw down his gauntlet, and when no one came forward he would go to another part of the hall and repeat the challenge. So far as our records tell, the champion never had to do combat.

The last time the challenge was made was during the crowning of George IV. A champion offered his services when Edward VII was crowned in 1902, but no banquet was to be held and he was given the honor of holding the standard of England during the ceremonies.

Dear Miss Chatfield: There is a great deal said nowadays about the right of children to lead their own lives and very little said about the duty of those children to their parents, who have made great sacrifices to fit them to lead their own lives. Mine is a case in point. My husband died when three of the children were quite small, and I was left with the responsibility of their upbringing. My oldest son was married soon after he graduated from college. The second, a daughter, was married last summer and now my youngest is preparing to leave me. It seems to me that when a woman gives all she has to her family, loses touch with her old world in order to look after children, they have an obligation to stay with her a few years before they marry and leave for good. This is the time a mother needs them most and even if they don't need her they should not forget the years of strain and struggle that she endured on their account. Please discuss this subject that is close to many a mother's heart.

Mrs. F. E. B.

Answer: Perhaps if you will go back to the time of your own youth and marriage you will recall that once you fell in love you did not cease to care for your parents nor to feel a sense of obligation to them, but you didn't consider the question of whether or not you should postpone your marriage in order to stay with them. The motivating thought of your whole existence was to leave the old nest and build one of your own. Perhaps the circumstances were different and your father was alive, but if he hadn't been your attitude wouldn't have been different.

No doubt you have been a selfless and dutiful mother to your children, but this was not altogether an unselfish service. What you did was done in love and not because you were driven by a stern sense of duty. They were helpless little ones when you existed, and you were responsible and if you were able to bring them to maturity healthy, well-educated young men and women you should be devotedly thankful that they found love and happiness in marriage on the threshold of life. And you shouldn't be selfish enough to wish them to sacrifice a single year to your pleasure. The cause you chose to cut yourself off from your old world and now find yourself isolated. They were children when you made this mistake in judgment. They didn't demand it of you; they didn't know you were preeminent your life of all interests but them. In their youth and inexperience of life they cannot be expected to comprehend the meaning of parenthood. They should not be penalized either by being asked to forego or postpone marriage to sit by and hold their mother's hand.

How reproached you would feel the youngest child to do this and wake up to find that love had slipped from under her feet. Then she would be bitter and forget every obligation to you in the great cost of her needless sacrifice to a selfish mother's whim.

A mother needn't be separated from her children when they get married unless she antagonizes their husbands and wives. True, the old relationship is necessarily changed. The new husband or wife will have a mortgage on the child's heart and the mother must take the second. But so it was with her and her children. This is the regular cycle of life and it cannot be altered.

Surely children owe an obligation to their mother but not to stay with her when they want to get married. Surely they shouldn't forget the years of strain and struggle she went through to put them where they are, but that doesn't mean that they should repeat her mistakes and themselves off from their world. They have a duty to see that she wants for nothing in life, a duty to keep in close touch with her, a duty to treat her with the same loving consideration she accorded them. Beyond this they have no duty and she gains nothing when she tries to impose upon them or set the marriage back when they refuse to be imposed upon.

When we deny the demands of nature and try to outwit her in her favorite game, we are marked for defeat and destined to end the game with confused minds and bruised hearts. Nature's favorite game is mating the young and when she takes a hand all opponents are whipped.

East opened the king of hearts and as the cards lay there was no possibility of a draw. North would be held to less than four trump. And, as is generally true of these free distributional hands, East and West had a laydown game at their heels, against which, if they had bid it, it is extremely unlikely that North and South could find any bid except to save at five diamonds. The view of distributional values and he, too, felt it likely that North would run.

Crackers Beat Barons, 4 to 2; Increase Lead to Six Games

SCHMIDT GETS NINTH VICTORY; MEMPHIS BOWS

Hooks, Moore and McCaskill Get Two Hits Each.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., July 25.—Although he gave way to Jim Lindsay in the eighth inning, Bill Schmidt won his third game of the season from the Barons Thursday afternoon as the league-leading Atlantics opened their final series of the season at Rickwood. The defeat was Bill Hughes' fourth setback in five starts against the Crackers this season, while the victory enabled Schmidt to keep his record of no defeats against Birmingham this season clean. Only a 6-4 tie, a game that Schmidt started but did not finish, mars his record against the Barons.

Schmidt gave up only eight hits in the seven and two-third innings he pitched and only in the fifth, when Hughes' single scored Woodward and Dunbar, did the Barons score on him. The Crackers made only one more hit off Hughes than the locals made off the two Atlanta hurlers, but the nine blows produced more tallies.

LINDSEY GOES IN.

Going into the eighth inning with only a two-run lead, Manager Eddie Moore decided to take no chances when the Barons got a couple of hits off Schmidt, and he sent Lindsay to the mound. It was Lindsay's first appearance of the season at Rickwood and he did a swell job of checking the Baronal uprising, and then retiring them without any trouble in the ninth.

A fine display of fielding saved the day for Schmidt in the eighth with one gone, Clancy and Scott single in succession and Lindsay was ordered to the mound. On the first pitched ball by Lindsay, Cox blasted a drive toward third that seemed like a couple of bags. Nobody seems to know just how he did it, but through some twist of fate, Johnny Hill came up with the ball, tagged third and threw to first, completing a fast double play. While Schmidt was holding the Barons hitless for the first four innings, the visitors were going about their business of making a couple of runs. Hughes walked Hamel, first up, and this regular base-on-balls hoodoo held good. Clancy juggled the ball on Hill's drive long enough for Hamel to take second, and Hughes scored Hamel with a single.

HOOKS SINGLES.

Hooks got his second single as first up in the fourth and Manager Moore bounced a grounder off Clancy's shin. When the ball deflected toward second, Vorosel threw Moore out at first, but it placed Hooks in position to championship of the junior golf tournament, 1 up, yesterday. In the center are shown the "rescued" Kirkwood Cubs ready for the bus ride to Rome for the sandlot tourney. The Fulton County Post No. 134, American Legion, paid the expenses. Second and third standing in the center are Tubby

Georgia Boys Busy in Sports---Junior Stars Battle---Cubs Leave---New Junior Golf Champion

Walton and Major Trammell Scott, one of the officers of the post. At right is Luke Barnes, youngest of the Barnes, who beat James Reid, the barefoot boy from Piedmont, 7 and 6, for the annual junior championship. He succeeded brother Ralph as champion. Staff photos by Kenneth Rogers.

Luke Barnes Winner Of Junior Golf Title

Young Gene Dahlbender Wages Stirring Fight To Win Second Flight; Yates Victor.

By Jack Troy.

The old phrases kept bobbing up—tenacity of purpose—dogged determination—will to win—and none of them seemed to have the right ring, or even fit the situation.

There was something more. And just what it was is not quite clear. Even now.

Gene Dahlbender Jr., wearing a pith helmet that topped him something like an umbrella, reached the turn two down in his final match of the second flight of the junior golf tournament with Charles Burnett yesterday at the West End Club.

Luke Barnes was on the way to closing out his championship match with James Reid, the barefoot boy from Piedmont. Luke had turned six up, having won the first five holes in a row, and it was only a matter of time until his sharpshooting was to reward him with the junior title by a count of 7 and 6.

REID'S FIRST.

It was Reid's first tournament. He has been playing golf little over a year. And suddenly finding himself in the finals was a bit too much. And especially so against an opponent of the caliber of the youngest of the Barnes. Luke was shooting man's golf in a kid's tournament. There's an expression, "going to the barn." And it fairly fit this and last year's tourney. Going to the Barnes.

But there was no gallery for the championship match. Everybody followed Dahlbender and Yates except the two colored boys caddying for Alan Yates was having a battle with his cousin, Nick Stillwell. First one and then the other would have the advantage and finally Yates got into the lead and held it, winning the third flight championship, two up.

And all the while the drive, pitch and putt of the Dahlbender-Burnett match continued with a doggedness and relentlessness that provided a miniature drama on the greensward at West End.

There they were. Two kids barely taller than clubs they were using, sinking long putts, making great recovery shots, blasting long tee shots. And as oblivious to pressure as a cigar store Indian.

SHORT STORY.

It should be written as a short story because the climax came at the very end. A brilliant climax that has not been surpassed in Atlanta junior golf.

Dahlbender's tee shot from the 16th hit a tree and the ball dropped straight down. It was a difficult lie. He could barely complete his backswing without hitting the tree. But he came out of there with a beautiful approach shot. He was six feet away from the pin on his fourth shot. And he promptly rammed the next putt home.

"One down and two to go," he muttered as he walked over to the 17th tee.

Burnett's shot hit in the bottom and rolled on top of the hill. This looked like the break. But Dahlbender calmly pitched to the green and Burnett rolled to the edge. They were down in three putts for a half.

And so they faced the 18th. There should have been a lot of pressure on Gene Dahlbender Jr., age 11. He had been carrying the burden all the way around. But if the old demon was there he wasn't to be seen.

JACOBS FAVORS BOUT WITH LOUIS

By Eddie Breitiz.

Associated Press Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, July 25.—(AP)—Joe Jacobs, the little man with the big cigar, bounced off a trans-Atlantic liner today in charge of Max Schmeling's heavyweight future, bounced to Madison Square Garden for one offer, to the 20th Century Sporting Club for another, bounced back and forth again and tonight was still bouncing around, no nearer a decision than he was when the boat landed.

"The Garden has made me a fine offer for Schmeling to fight Max Baer," he said, "and the 20th Century Sporting Club also gave me a fine proposition for a fight with Joe Louis. I like the second because I think Schmeling and Louis will draw about $800,000, where Schmeling and Baer won't do over $200,000."

"I've called all the dope to Schmeling for decision, and I expect an answer from him in the morning."

"We are willing to fight either man," he said, "but we want a guarantee of $150,000. We'll sign with the first promoter who lays it on the line."

Romanoff Meets Mauldin Tonight

The fans who attend the Riverside arena tonight are promised three of the best light-heavyweight matches ever seen at this arena.

In the main match, George Romanoff will meet "Gentleman" John Mauldin, Atlanta's meanest grappler. The ape man is a scientific wrestler and never resorts to rough tactics unless forced to, however he can hold his own with any of the tough boys. Romanoff states that he will shake whippers off if thrown by Mauldin.

Emilio Firpo, the South American bull fighter, will face Son Almand, the popular steel worker, in the semi-windup match.

Joe Wolf, who hails from Chicago, and claims he can pin any Atlanta wrestler in 10 minutes, will be given a chance to prove this in the opening match, when he meets Young London. The latter has not been defeated in three years.

The Riverside arena is located on the River car line, one mile this side of Bolton, and will seat 2,000 fans.

THOSE FEARFUL VOLTS.

According to the figures, our noble lads, the Atlanta Crackers, have administered a very proper series of defeats to the Nashvilles at Ponce de Leon park, taking six out of eight.

But in the soapbox baseball park at Nashville, called Sulpher Dell, those Nashvilles have won five out of seven from our brave lads.

The situation takes on something of a horrific aspect. If, when the play-off comes, the Nashvilles are in fourth place, the Crackers will be forced to play them under the rules, regulations and animosities of the Shaughnessy system. It would be disastrous if the Crackers had to play in Nashville because no baseball team is safe in the Dell.

There seems to be nothing to do except have the Vols play the Crackers in Atlanta. Or have them finish third or second. We do not wish to play the Vols in Nashville.

In fact, and very confidentially, I think if the Vols had one more good pitcher they would be the second club in the race, second only to our first place Crackers.

THE OLD BOGEY MAN.

While the Giants seem to show some signs of pulling away from the rim of disaster, there isn't much doubt but that they keep looking over their shoulders to see if the old Bogey Man of 1934 is anywhere around.

The old Bogey Man is the collapse of 1934 wherein the Giants cracked and let the Cardinals through to the pennant.

And try as they will, the Giants can't help but think about that 1934 collapse and wonder if they are going to do it again. The same thing, of course, helps the Cardinals. They recall the late summer of 1934 and the "Is Brooklyn still in the league?" incident wherein the charges of Casey Stengel stopped the Giants while they, the Cardinals, romped on to the pennant and the series. They believe they can do it again. The Giants will wonder if they will crack again.

Still, and all, the Giants seem to have the best pitching staff. The Cardinals never would have been where they are had not Wild Bill Hallahan found his arm somewhere. It had been lost for some time. With the veteran going at his old-time pace the Cardinals are in the race. But their pitching staff still doesn't measure up to that possessed by the Giants.

And pitching usually wins pennants and series—as is evidenced by Dizzy and Daffy of the 1934 contest wherein the two men stopped the Tigers.

THE PACE THAT TIRES—HARDLY.

Those foes of the Crackers, who are sitting around waiting for them to crack from the strain of holding first place, are getting restless. The Crackers do not seem to be cracking. That is they are cracking nothing except the whip over the other entries.

The pace that kills is one wherein the manager and players are keyed up to a million and go out to win every game with a do-or-die attitude. Eddie Moore wisely has avoided this.

In a talk some days ago he said, "We haven't got keyed up about this race. We go out and play our ball game. I haven't tried to key the boys up to any heights. When you do that it becomes a strain. When you don't it isn't."

SOME ODDS AND ENDS.

Every club in the Southern association will have night baseball next year. . . . It is a natural development and despite the objections of the standpatters, a more attractive show than the daylight baseball. . . . Bob Loane, the new Chattanooga outfielder, is the best looking prospect since Kiki Cuyler broke in with the Vols in 1923. . . . Steamboat Johnson was pleased as Punch that a bleacher crowd cheered him in Little Rock a few weeks ago until he learned it was a section from the Arkansas Hospital for the Insane. . . . Joe Louis, the leading heavyweight contender, is a great baseball fan and picks the Detroit Tigers to win the pennant and the series. . . . Baseball players say the Cardinals have to win pennants to get their salary in the series. . . . Cincinnati estimates a gain of 20,000 new fans by night baseball and five new clubs will install lights in the majors next year. . . . Danno O'Mahoney is named Danny, the Danno being merely an Irish nickname. . . . Bill Lee, the Alabama football captain last year, will begin wrestling this fall. . . . Detroit is not expected to give Dixie Howell permission to play pro football.

NATIONAL TITLE IS NEXT GOAL OF MRS. MOODY

Will Miss Wightman Matches; May Take Up Golf.

NEW YORK, July 25.—(AP)—Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, easily the most refreshing thing New York has known since the sultry weather set in, returned today from her comeback tennis conquest of England and said she contemplates carrying on, with her dancing blue eyes fixed firmly on the American championship next month.

For the time being, however, her playing program per force must be interrupted. She plans to leave by rail for the Pacific coast Monday to join her husband, Frederick S. Moody, in San Francisco. Meanwhile she will stay in New York and go out to the grass courts at Forest Hills occasionally if she can "get a game with somebody."

Her decision to go home means she will not be available to aid the United States against Great Britain in the Wightman cup series at Forest Hills August 16-17. She's made up her mind to pass this up, but is reasonably certain she will try to resurface the national title from her arch-rival, Helen Hull Jacobs, here the latter part of next month.

The interviewers who met her aboard ship today wanted to find out two things: How did she feel about defeating Miss Jacobs in the finals of the Wimbledon championship to win the All-England title for the seventh time, and is she still troubled with the back ailment which caused her to default to her California rival in the 1933 American final and subsequently withdraw from competition for two years.

SWEETEST VICTORY.

To the first she replied, "It was the sweetest victory of my life, especially after some of the unpleasant things that were said about me when I defaulted." To the second she answered with an emphatic "No!" adding she didn't expect it would bother her again.

Miss Jacobs was a much improved player and beating her was no sine-cure, Mrs. Moody assured the press. How did she feel about her victory? She had much point against her in the ninth game of the third set?

"One doesn't feel, for that matter, think in a situation like that. I had only one object in mind and that was to hit the ball. Winning at Wimbledon again came as a great surprise."

Although I was thoroughly satisfied with my game and felt, and still do, it was as good as it was two years ago, I only expected to reach the semi-finals or something like that. After all, the play of women all over is generally improved and faster.

BIGGEST THRILL.

"However, winning the American title for the first time 12 years ago was the biggest thrill I ever had. As you grow older you take things easier—less keenly—more in your stride, as it were, but don't think I am not overjoyed by my comeback."

The player who started in 1922 with her hair in pig-tails and grew into the world's leading player of her sex has decided to stick to tennis for a few years more anyway, limiting her competitive appearances to the semi-finals or something like that. The American national and Wimbledon championships.

More surprising than that, there's a strong likelihood she soon may be swinging a club on some California golf course.

Returning on the same ship was Joe Kirkwood, the trick shot artist. She had never played golf or swung a stick. Kirkwood gave her a couple of lessons on shipboard.

"Her sense of rhythm, balance and timing are remarkable," Kirkwood said enthusiastically. "She ought to take up the game."

Mrs. Moody, standing near by at the time, said: "That sounds intriguing, doesn't it? Maybe I will."

SHUFFLEBOARD.
TRAVERSE CITY, Mich., July 25.
—Dwight K. Hubbard, of Janesville, Wis., has won the national shuffleboard championship for the third consecutive time. He defeated L. L.
Ansley, of Traverse City, in the final last night. Henry W. Smith, of Petersburg, Fla., defeated E. F.
Muney, of Buffalo, N. Y., in the finals for men over 45 years of age.

HOUSE IS DAMAGED BY AMATEUR BOMB

Atlanta Contractor's Home
Target for Blast That Breaks Windows.

A homemade bomb yesterday morning damaged the porch and shattered windows of the home of T. C. Wesley,

Atlanta contractor, at 27 Fifteenth street, N. E. Wesley last night discounted any connection between the bombing and a visit Tuesday night in which a man came to the front door after Mr. Wesley had retired and asked to speak to him. Mr. Wesley said a man had come there Saturday to "talk about building a house" and said he was more inclined to believe this man had returned. He said there had been a minor

TWO MEN ARE INJURED BY CAREENING MACHINE

Two men were treated at Grady hospital yesterday afternoon for minor injuries after an automobile driven by W. L. Smith, of Griffin street, collided with a parked automobile and ran along a sidewalk for almost a block before ending its wild careening against a telephone pole.

Smith was charged with drunk and reckless driving by E. F. Geeslin, police department traffic investigator, who was on the scene of the crash at Chestnut and Fox streets immediately after the accident. Bill Fowler, of an Echo street address, a passenger in Smith's automobile, was slightly injured.

The automobile, going north on Chestnut street, first struck an automobile owned by S. A. Johnston, insurance man, of 674 Tulin street, N. W., who was sitting on a porch at 603 Chestnut street at the time. Police were forced to clear the street because of live wires from the broken pole endangering passersby, they reported.

ROW TAKES JOBS

City Employees Suspended
After Fight Over Commissions.

W. Evans Chambers, former city efficiency expert, and J. D. Crenshaw, employee in the department of the revenue collector for the city, were suspended yesterday following an altercation late Wednesday afternoon in the office at the city hall.

Riley Elder, collector, suspended both men for 30 days and told them they could come back at the expiration of that time and he would talk to them about giving them their jobs back. The controversy grew, it was reported, from a disagreement over commissions from collections. Both men worked on commission and worked together on many collections. During the oral exchange, Chambers is said to have gone to a nearby desk and produced a revolver, which he snapped at Crenshaw. The hammer, however, fell on an unloaded chamber and attaches of the officer intervened to end the disagreement.
